REV. WILLIAM WITHERELL, M.A., OF SCITUATE, MASS.

COMMUNICATED BY VIRGINIA HALL, OF CAMBRIDGE.

In a list of "emigrants in the Hercules of Sandwich bound for the plantation called New England in America," is the following record:

"Will. Witherell, of Maidstone, schoolmaster, Mary, his wife, three children, and one servant. Certificates from Sam. Marshal mayor of Maidstone, Tho. Swinnuck, Edw. Duke and Rob. Barrel, cl. 14 Mar. 1634." Drake's Founders of New England. Page 82.

With this clue the marriage licence of William Witherell was found in Canterbury Marriage Licences, Second Series. Page 1087.

"Witherill, William, M.A. of Maidstone, ba., about 25, and Mary Fisher of Boughton, Monchelsea, maiden, abouut 22, who is now under govt., of her mother, Joan Martin, alias Fisher, now wife of John Martin, s. p. yeom., who consents. At S. Mildred's Cant. March 26, 1627."

Upon having his attention called to these records, Dr. C. B. Witherle, of Castine, Maine, wrote to the Bursar of Corpus Christi College (formerly Bennet College), Cambridge, and received the following reply:

CORPUS CHRISTI COLLEGE,

QUERIES.

Wanted:

1. The parentage of Lucy Perkins who married about 1754 Isaac Andrews of Ipswich, Mass., and settled in Hillsboro', N. H.
2. The parentage of Elizabeth Ingalls, who married Oct. 27, 1726, Solomon Andrews of Ipswich.
3. The parentage of Abigail Elliot, who married first, Jan. 7, 1712-13, David Goodell of Salem, and second, Jan. 19, 1719-20, Joseph Hutchinson of Middleton, Mass.
4. The parentage of Hannah Roberts who married, June 4, 1709, Nathaniel Putnam of Salem.
5. The parentage of Sarah Cram who married Ephraim Putnam of Danvers and died Oct. 15, 1777 aged 59.

   J. C. H.

6. I would like the parentage, with reference to proofs, of Hon. Peter Bulkeley of Concord, who died May 24, 1688.

   E. C. T.

7. Wanted the ancestry of Hannah ——— who married Thomas Cox of Beverly and had a son Thomas who married June 21, 1727, Mary daughter of Ebenezer Woodbury for second wife. The son Thomas had a son Ebenezer who married, 1754, Lydia, daughter of Hugh and Jane (Green) Woodbury.
8. Would like the proof of the parentage of the above Ebenezer Woodbury.
9. Sarah Woodbury married, July 30, 1748, Josiah Stanford, Jr., of Portland. Her parentage is wanted.
10. The ancestry of James Woodbury of Salisbury, N. H., wanted in the Woodbury line. He had a son John who married Lizzie Dyer and had by her a daughter Eliza who married Luther Eames of Framingham, Mass.

    S. G. W.

11. Thomas French of Braintree, born March 10, 1657-8, married before 1697, Elizabeth ———. The wife's surname and parentage wanted, also date of marriage.

    J. A. V.

12. Stephen Farr married May 25, 1674, Mary, daughter of William and Mary (Merriam) Taylor of Concord, Mass., and had:

    Ebenezer, born at Concord, Nov. 10, 1676.
    Stephen, " " " April 11, 1679.
    Mary, " " Billerica, May 4, 1686.

    Jonathan Farr, John Farr, Samuel Farr of Stow, and Thomas Farr of Littleton, were probably children of this Stephen. John died Jan. 14, 1723-4 in the "43d year of his age." Samuel Farr died June 7, 1754, "considerably advanced in age." In the will of Samuel Farr (dated Feb. 4, 1754, pro. July 1, 1754), he mentions an orchard that he purchased of his brother John Farr. Jonathan Farr bought land in Stow, Oct. 16, 1700. Thomas was fence-viewer in Littleton, in 1715. I have not been able to find any other Farr who could have been father of these, nor have I found any reason why they may not have been children of Stephen.

Wanted Stephen Farr's parentage, the date and place of his death and the complete record of his children.

M.F.

13. The parentage of Mary, wife of Isaac Stearns of Watertown, who died April 2, 1677. Bond's Watertown quotes the baptisms of Mary and Anna, children of Isaac Stearns, from the parish registers of Nayland in Suffolk, and says that he probably came from that place. Is there any other evidence supporting Bond's supposition?

NOTES.

Bassett Genealogy. Frank G. Bassett of Seymour, Conn., Secretary of the Bassett Family Association, is engaged in writing a history of this family. The family held a reunion at West Haven, Conn., Sept. 9, 1897, of which a report was printed. A second gathering of the family will be held at Plymouth, Mass., this year.

Cox Family Gathering. The old homestead of Capt. Henry Cox, at Cox's Corner, Mattapan, Mass., was the scene of a very pleasant meeting of one branch of the Cox family during the afternoon of October 2, 1897. At this meeting a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a reunion in 1898 of the descendants of the New England Coxes, and to consider the advisability of establishing a permanent family organization for the purpose of holding reunions and publishing a history of the family. This committee has made preparations to hold the reunion in Chipman Hall, at the Tremont Temple, Boston, during the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, September 28, 1898. Refreshments are to be provided by the committee, and a small admission fee will be charged to pay the expenses incurred by the committee. All who wish to attend this gathering are requested to notify Mr. Edward J. Cox, of Newtonville, Mass., or Mrs. E. G. S. Pease, of Boston (214 Commonwealth Avenue), before the first of September.

PARSHALL GENEALOGY. James C. Parshall, Esq., 312 Putnam Street, Syracuse, N. Y., is preparing a history of this family.

PENNIMAN GENEALOGY. Rev. G. W. Penniman of Southbridge, Mass., is collecting material for a history of the Penniman family.

Three valuable volumes of "Collections," aggregating nearly 425 pages, have been issued since the founding of the society.

The first volume contains the Topsfield baptisms from 1727 to 1779, and several interesting papers on local historical subjects. The second volume gives the continuation of the baptisms to 1841, the transactions of the town meetings from 1659 to 1684, and a number of contributions to the history of the town. The third volume contains the continuation of the transactions to 1699, deaths in Topsfield from 1658 to 1800, newspaper items relating to the town from 1770 to 1800, "Topsfield Bill of Estate 1723-25," Topsfield county rate for 1668, a list of men who took the Oath of Allegiance, and historical papers on the Methodist Church, Rev. King Genealogy. Clement King, of Marshfield, Mass., 1668, and his Descendants. Compiled by George Austin Morrison, Jr., Albany, N. Y. Joel Munsell's Sons, Publishers. 1898. 4to, pp. 65. [Edition 30 copies. Price $10.00.]

The King Genealogy is arranged on the well known "Register Plan." It is printed in large type on good paper with wide margins, and is well bound. The compiler has traced the descendants of Clement King of Marshfield, Mass., and Providence, R. I., through seven generations, giving detailed accounts of eighty-six families. The English ancestry of Clement King is not known, hence the absence of the "family coat of arms," which too often embellishes American family histories, is commendable.

The compiler of this book devotes the first nineteen pages to a historical sketch of the town of New Gloucester, Me. The remaining pages contain a very complete record of the descendants of Thomas Penney, who was born in Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 13, 1750, settled in New Gloucester, Me., and died there Feb. 18, 1813. The genealogy is divided into twelve sections, each containing the descendants of one of the twelve children of Thomas. The book is well printed on good paper, has many excellent illustrations, and is well indexed.

The English ancestry of Lieut. Thomas Tracy was published in 1895 by Lieut. Charles Steadman Ripley, U. S. N. The compiler of this genealogy acknowledges his indebtedness to Lieut. Ripley's book for the ancestry of Lieut. Thos. Tracy. The record of the American family is carefully gathered from all sources of information available to the compiler. The printing and binding are done in a creditable manner, and the volume is well indexed. In the arrangement of this genealogy, greater facility of reference would have been obtained by numbering only those persons who were to be carried forward as heads of families.

COX GENEALOGY.

SOME MATERIALS TOWARDS A HISTORY OF THE EARLY COX FAMILIES OF NEW ENGLAND.

BY REV. JOHN H. COX, OF LEXINGTON, MASS.

WILLIAM COX, of Pemaquid, is the first person of this name in New England, of whom we have any record. He is supposed to have come from the vicinity of Bristol, in England,* where the name is common, and from which place the present town of Bristol, Maine (which includes the location of the Pemaquid settlement), derives its name. Even the Christian names common in the early generations of the family here were the prevailing ones among the Coxes there in the early part of the seventeenth century.

He first appears at Pemaquid as a witness to the "first deed of conveyance of American soil,"† dated July 15, 1625, by which Captain John Somerset‡ and Unnongoit, Indian sagamores, convey to "John Brown of New Harbor" a tract of land "Beginning at Pemaquid Falls and so running a direct course to the *Pemaquid.—Westward from Penobscott (which is the Southermost Fort in Nova Scotia) fourteen Leagues of is Pemaquid in which River Alderman Alworth of Bristole, setled a Company of People in the yeare 1625, which Plantation hath continued and many Families are now [1660] settled there. There was a Patent granted for it by his Maties: Royall Grandfather and by vertue of that Patent they hold the Islands of Monahegan and Damerells Coue, and other small ones adjacent Commodious for fishing.—Maverick's Description of New England, Genealogical Register, xxxix*, 34.

head of New Harbor, from thence to the south end of Muscongus Island, taking in the island, and so running five and twenty miles into the country north and by east, and thence eight miles northwest and by west, and then turning and running south and by west, to Pemaquid where first begun."

We again learn of William Cox through the deposition of John Pearce, made at Manchester, Mass., in 1735. Pearce was born at Muscongus, near Pemaquid about 1644.* He knew William Cox who lived at Cox's Cove and owned a farm bounded southwesterly on land of one Cole, northerly on land of John Brown, easterly on land of one Philips, and westerly by a brook. Was this northerly boundary the southern boundary of John Brown's purchase from the Indian sagamores, viz., a direct course from Pemaquid Falls to the head of New Harbor? If it was, then Cox's Cove must have been situated on the eastern side of the Pemaquid River, not as Johnston states (Bristol and Bremen, 218) east of the peninsula where the fort stood, but farther up the river (as he surmises in his footnote), in order to have a brook as the westerly boundary of Cox's farm. We know not how or when Cox acquired this farm, neither do we know how long he occupied it nor how he disposed of it. Some of his descendants, in one line, have continued to dwell in that vicinity, even to the present time, with the exception of brief periods when the Indians forced them to seek shelter in the coast towns of Massachusetts. His is the only name still borne by descendants in the vicinity of Pemaquid, which dates back to the time of the settlement of the "Company of People" by Robert Aldworth and Gyles Elbridge, merchants, of Bristol.

William Cox appears on record for the last time (unless he was the freeman of 1674), as a witness to a deed, dated August 8, 1660. This deed was from his old neighbor, "John Brown of New Harbor" to Brown's son-in-law, "Sander" Gould, and Margaret his wife, and conveyed part of the land which he purchased of the Indian sagamores in 1625. It is remarkable that the same name (Matthew Newman) which appeared as witness with Cox to the deed of 1625, appears again as fellow witness thirty-five years later.

At a court held at Pemaquid July 22, 1674, by Maj. Thomas Clarke, Humphry Davy, Richard Collicott and Lieut. Thomas

*Johnston's Hist. of Bristol and Bremen, 242.

Gardiner, under an order from the General Court* of Massachusetts, Thomas Cox of Pemaquid took his oath as constable and also the oath of fidelity, and the following Coxes took the oath of fidelity: Jno Cock, Tho Cox, Jun, Shadrick Cox, Richard Cox, Tho Cox, Wm Cox and Tho Cox. Of these it is probable that William, Thomas, Sen., and John were sons of William Cox. Shadrick and Richard may have been either sons or grandsons. Thomas Cox, Jun. and the other two Thomases were probably grandsons.

WILLIAM COX of Sagadahoc and Salem, planter, is supposed to have been a son of William of Pemaquid. This supposition is based upon the statements of Capt. Israel Cox of Bristol and the depositions of Laurence Denis† and the brothers, John and Thomas Cox‡ of Beverly.

Wm Browne

Essex Deeds, 11, 7. York Deeds. 6,141.

Capt. Israel Cox was accustomed to say that the William Cox who witnessed the Indian deed to John Brown was his great-grandfather's father.*

In a statement about his family, made in his old age to his nephew's wife and recorded by her in a family Bible, Capt. Cox said that his father was Ebenezer who was born in Beverly in 1728, and that this Ebenezer was son of Thomas and grandson of a Thomas Cox who came from England and settled in 1642 at Cox's Cove, Pemaquid harbor, where he carried on a fishing business. These statements have about the usual value of such traditions. He is correct about the names of his ancestors as far as his great-grandfather, Thomas, but that man, according to his own deposition, was not born until about twenty-two years after the date that Capt. Israel locates him at Pemaquid, and was the son of John instead of William. While it appears from Capt. Israel Cox's own statements that he did not know the name of his great-grandfather's father, yet when we consider that, with the exception of a single generation, his ancestors have been inhabitants of Pemaquid or its immediate vicinity, is it not reasonable to suppose that there was some foundation for the tradition that he was descended from the first William Cox of that place? Admitting this, then the deposition of Laurence Denis, if we allow the term "brother in law" to mean half-brother as it often did at that time, gives some reason for the supposition that William Cock of Sagadahoc was a son of William of Pemaquid. It also indicates that William Cox of Pemaquid was twice married.

We first learn of William Cox of Sagadahoc through the case of Tead against Collicott.† It appears from the testimony of the various witnesses that John Richards, William Cox and other inhabitants of the territory at the Kennebec lying within the Plymouth Patent seized a vessel owned and commanded by Joshua Tead of Charlestown, in May 1656, upon the charge of trading with the natives contrary to the patent.

William Cox had a farm on the western side of the Kennebec river which he bought of Thomas Atkins or Adkins.‡ This farm of Cheese Ysland, & to runne into the Woods three Miles." (York Deeds, 3, 23.)

He was probably the freeman of that name at Pemaquid in 1674. At the same time and place he was granted a license to keep a house of "publicke enterteynement and to be provided wth necessarys for lodging, &c, accordingly, and to retajle beare, wine, & licquors" for Sagadahoc and Kennebec. (Mass. Col. Rec. v. 19, 20).

We learn through the deposition of Elizabeth Davis* that he had a family, and the use of "Senr" by him in the deed conveying his farm to John Higginson indicates that he had a son William, but what became of him, his wife Mary, and his family, we are not able to state at present.

WILLIAM COX of Salem, perhaps son of the preceding, married Hannah, daughter of Andrew and Mary Woodbury of Salem, and had a daughter Mary born there July 13, 1688. We find no other record of him. Hannah Woodbury was born April 1, 1664. Hannah Cox and Elizabeth More of Salem, widows, gave a receipt, May 26, 1708, for money due them from a sale of land formerly owned by their father, Andrew Woodbury, which had been sold for the benefit of their mother, Mary Woodbury.† Hannah Cox of Salem, widow of William Cox of Salem deceased and Mary Cox, singlewoman and only child of said William and Hannah, sold, March 13, 1720–21, their undivided common rights in Salem.‡

[The John Summerset mentioned in the depositions of George and John Pearce was the "Samaset" or "Samoset" who greeted the Pilgrims at Plymouth, March 16, 1621, (Brad- ford's History of Plymouth, Deane's edition, page 93; State edition, page 114; Mourt's Relation, Dexter's edition, pages 83, 89; New England's Memorial, Davis's edition, page 53; Smith's Generall Historie of Virginia, New-England, etc. 1819 edition, page 225; Prince's Chronological History of New England, 1826 edition, page 185), the "Somerset" who met Christopher Levett, at "Capemanwagan" in 1623–4, (Baxter's Christopher Levett, The Gorges Society V. page 102; Coll. Maine Hist. Soc. Vol. II. page 87), the "Captain John Somerset" who sold land to John Brown of New Harbor, July 15, 1625, and acknowledged the deed at Pemaquid, July 24, 1626, (Commissioners' Report on Lincoln County Land Claims, page 106; Johnston's Bristol and Bremen, page 54; Coll. Maine Hist. Soc. Vol. V. page 191), the "Capt John Summerset" who sold land at Muscongus to Richard Pearce, Jan. 9, 1641, (New England Hist. and Gen. Register, XIII. 365, Johnston's Bristol and Bremen, pages 52, 63, 234, 237), the "Captaine Sommarset" who sold land to William Parnell, Thomas Way and William England, in July 1653, (Coll. Maine Hist. Soc. Vol. V. page 188), and the "Summersant" whom Josselyn mentions in 1673 as formerly a famous Sachem among the Eastern Indians (Josselyn's Voyages to New-England, 1865 edition, page 113).

These depositions add a new and interesting item to our previous knowledge of this famous Sagamore, establish the date of John Pearce's birth as about 1653 rather than 1644 (see ante p. 82), and prove that John Pearce was a son rather than a grandson of Richard and Elizabeth (Brown) Pearce of Muscongus. The gift of this island to John and Elizabeth Pearce, even if made during the childhood of John Pearce, must have occurred after the date of the deed to Parnall, Way and England, and is clearly the last known act of Somerset. The word "bequeathed" in the deposition of John Pearce, suggests that it may have been the closing act of his life.

Much has been written about the spelling and pronunciation of the name of this Indian chieftain. It will be noticed that the present accepted spelling, Samoset, is a corruption of the "Samaset" of Bradford, and that both of these forms have their foundation in Bradford's History and Mourt's Relation only. It will also be noticed that in the other original sources the name occurs as Somerset, or a corruption of this good old English word. It seems to me quite probable that this Indian, who had such a high regard for everything English, did not stop at the exchange of his Indian title for "Captain John," but adopted for a surname the name of the county from which many of his English acquaintances came.

For brief biographical notices of Somerset or Samoset, see Thornton's Ancient Pemaquid, Johnston's Bristol and Bremen, HON. PETER BULKELEY, M.A.

BY RUTH WOOD HOAG, OF BOSTON.

In the records of Concord births and burials, 1639–1644, collected by Mr. Stephen Winthrop at Boston, we find :— "Peter the Sonne of Mr Edward Buckley was borne the 3° (11°) 1640" that is, January 3, 1640. O. S.* The name of his mother is not known. Peter Bulkeley came from a distinguished family, being of the twelfth generation from Robert Bulkeley Esq., one of the English Barons who, in the reign of King John (who died in 1216), was Lord of the Manor of Bulkeley, in the county Palatine of Chester. Peter's grandfather,† Rev. Peter Bulkeley,

*NOTE :— From other dates on the record, for instance, 28° (2°) 1641, we see that the first numeral refers to the day, and the second to the month. Until Sept. 1752 in England and her colonies the year began on March 25th and March was called the first month. The 11 in the date 3° (11°) 1640 must then mean January.

†NOTE: — The children of Rev. Peter Bulkeley by his first wife, Jane Allen, were: — Edward, Mary, Thomas, Nathaniel John, Mary, George, Daniel, Jabez, Joseph, William and Richard. By his second wife, Grace Chitwood, they were :— Gershom, Eliezer, Dorothy and Peter. This Peter was born at Concord Aug, 12, 1643. Many people have supposed that he was the Hon. Peter Bulkeley of Concord, the subject of this sketch. But two wills tend to prove that he was not, and that he lived at Fairfield, Ct. His brother, Gershom, mentioned above, in his will made May 2, 1712, a year before he died, says:— "Item, to my brother Peter's children (Gershom, Peter, Grace, Margaret and Dorothee) I give each of them ten shillings" etc. The son of Rev. Peter Bulkeley and Grace must then have had the above named children. Now a Peter Bulkeley at Fairfield (See E. H. Schenek's Hist. of Fairfield). in his will dated March 25, 1691 [1692] mentions a son Peter and daughters Grace and Margaret. He was of the right age to be the Peter, son of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, for he speaks of himself in this will as "in the 49 year of his age." Two sons of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, Thomas and Daniel, went to Fairfield in 1644 in company with Rev. John Jones, and were among its first settlers. It is probable then, that this Peter of Fairfield was the son of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, and that the Hon. Peter Bulkeley was the grandson of Rev. Peter, and son of Rev. Edward Bulkeley, as has been assumed in this article

When Rev. Peter Bulkeley died in 1659, his widow soon accompanied her son Gershom to New London, where there is record of her buying a house of William Hough. Simon Bradstreet, of New London, in his journal under date of April 21, 1669, writes:—"Mrs. Grace Bulkely ye widow of Mr Peter Bulkeley, sometimes pastor of ye church of Concord, deceased. She was a woman of great piety and wisdom and dyed in a good old age."

came to America in 1635, in the Susan and Ellen, and was the first pastor of the church in Concord. The eldest son of Rev. Peter1 Bulkeley, by his first wife Jane, daughter of Thomas Allen of Goldington, was Rev. Edward2 Bulkeley, who preached at Marshfield, and later succeeded his father as pastor of the Concord church. Sewall, in his diary, mentions Edward's death as follows: "Jan. 4, 1695–6 The Rev'd Mr. Edward Bulkly of Concord dies at Chelmsford in a good old age, is buried at Concord." Peter3 Bulkeley, eldest son of Rev. Edward Bulkeley, graduated from Harvard College in the class of 1660, took a second degree, and in 1663 was chosen a Fellow.

On May 11, 1670, Peter Bulkeley was "admitted to freedome." Three years later, May 7, 1673, he was elected deputy for Concord, to the General Court. He was reëlected for the three succeeding years, and during the last year, 1676, he served as Speaker. For eight years, from 1677 to 1684 inclusive, he was elected to the office of Assistant, and in 1682 and '83, he was, besides, Second Commissioner, and in 1684 First Commissioner in Reserve. During this time he frequently performed important duties. When various charges had been raised in England against Massachusetts, especially in regard to the colony's usurping authority over land claimed by Gorges in Maine and by Mason in New Hampshire, and also in regard to the great independence of the colony in making laws, it was Peter Bulkeley who, with William Stoughton, was sent to England to treat with the King. They sailed September 6, 1676, and returned in December, 1679. On May 19, 1680, Peter Bulkeley was appointed a member of a committee to revise the laws in accordance with the demands of the King. When the Militia needed reorganization, Bulkeley, with the title of Major, was given command of half of the former regiment of Middlesex. This was October 13, 1680. On March 30, 1683, Major Bulkeley was appointed one of the magistrates to keep a court in Essex for the trial of the cases in reference to the claims of Mr. Mason in that county.

When, in 1686, the charter of the colony was revoked and Joseph Dudley was appointed President, Major Peter Bulkeley was one of the counsellors in the commission associated with Dudley. Later in the year, when Andros became governor, Bulkeley was named in his commission. He was re-appointed in April, 1688. By the order of Governor Andros issued March 3, 1687, "for the establishment of courts of judicature and public justice," Joseph Dudley was made Chief Justice with Peter Bulkeley and William Stoughton his associates. But, if we are to credit Randolph's statements, Major Bulkeley was by this time quite infirm and hardly equal to the duties devolving upon him. Randolph says, in a letter to Mr. Blaithwait dated July 28, 1686 :—"Honest Major Bulkeley is quite tyred out and can hardly be perswaded to come to Boston." Later, writing to Mr. Povey, Jan. 24, 1688, of the great necessity of sending judges from England, he says : — "As for Mr. Bulkeley, he is stupified and drown in melancholy and almost useless, being seldom with us." Sewall writes of his death thus : "May 25, 1688. Col. Peter Bulkeley of Concord, dies, having languished for a long time. Died this Friday about eleven o'clock."

Hon. Peter3 Bulkeley married Rebecca, daughter of Lieut. Joseph and Sarah Wheeler, on April 16, 1667. Their children were :—

1. Edward b. Mar. 18, 1669
2. Joseph b. Sept. 7, 1670. m. (1) Widow Rebecca Minot, (2) Silence Jeffrey.
3. John b. July 10, 1773
4. Rebecca b. 1681 m. Jonathan Prescott Jr.

Hon. Peter Bulkeley's widow married, as his third wife, Jonathan Prescott, son of John and Mary Platts Prescott, and father of Jonathan Prescott, Jr., who married her daughter Rebecca.

The original of the portrait of Hon. Peter Bulkeley which appears with this article, is supposed to have been painted by Sir Godfrey Kneller during the time when Mr. Bulkeley was in England, as agent for the Massachusetts colony, 1676–79. It is said that the shape and position of the hand are characteristic of Sir Godfrey's portrait paintings. In the summer of 1851, a copy of the portrait was painted by Mr. William H. Scarborough, of Columbia, S. C., for a Mr. Bulkeley, of South Carolina. The original is now in the possession of Mrs George D. Sargent of Boston. The reproduction in this magazine is furnished by William Prescott Greenlaw, a descendant of Hon. Peter Bulkeley through this line :—

44. The following records of the births of the children of William and Hannah (Simmons) Richards appear in the town records of Pembroke:

Rispah	born January 21,	1740,

Priscilla	" November 7,	1746,
Benjamin	" December 23,	1749,
Nancy	" March 16,	1752.

In the church records of Pembroke, I find Silvina, daughter of William Richards, bapt. May 14, 1758.

Miss Susan A. Smith No. Pembroke, Mass.

[Morse's Richards Genealogy (page 75) gives two more children; Hannah, who married Rev. Andrew Fuller, of Warren, Me.; and Betsey, who lived and died in Bristol, Me. William married Ruth Bryant. Erastus married Betty Doty Sherman, Nancy married George James Yates of Bristol. Me, at Marshfield, November 26, 1772 (by Rev. A. Wales), and Priscilla married Coggin, of Bristol. —Editor.]

47. Isaac Sampson married first Sarah Barlow. They were married at Plympton, Oct. 26, 1715. Editor.

Elizabeth, the sec. w. of Isaac$_3$ Sampson, of Plympton and Middleborough, may have been a daughter of Jacob$_3$ Cook (Jacob$_2$, Francis$_1$). The names of six children of Jacob$_3$ Cook and Lydia$_3$ Miller (John$_2$, Rev. John$_1$) are given in "N. E. Hist. Gen. Register," Vol. LI p. 34. Davis, in "Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth," adds two, perhaps children of Phœbe, the second wife of Jacob$_3$. Was there a ninth, Elizabeth$_4$, married, about 1730, to Isaac$_3$ Sampson (Isaac$_2$, Abraham$_1$)? See "Sampson Family" in Vinton's "Giles Memorial." If so (1) Elizabeth$_4$ bore the name of her father's sister. (2) Her son Jacob$_5$ that of her father, grandfather and brother. (3) Her daughter Phebe$_5$ that of her mother or step-mother, and of her brother Jacob's$_4$ wife. (4) Her daughter Lydia$_5$ that of her father's first wife; but probably this name was from the paternal grandmother, Lydia (Standish) Sampson. This coincidence of names, some of them rather unusual, can scarcely be accidental. C. L. D. W.

BOOK NOTES.

Increase Blake, of Boston, his Ancestors and Descendants, with a full account of William Blake of Dorchester, and his five children. Compiled by Francis E. Blake. Boston, 1893 8 vo, pp. 147. [Price $2.50. For sale by F. E. Blake, 95 Milk St., Boston, Mass.]

The publication of this book was planned mainly for the preservation of the records collected by the late Rev. Charles

M. Blake, U. S. A., relating to the family of Increase Blake (James[3], James[2], William[1]) who was born in Dorchester, Mass., June 8, 1699. The incompleteness of that collection, however, led Francis E. Blake, Esq., to make extended and exhaustive researches into the history of the family, with the result that the original material of Rev. Mr. Blake has been increased at least ten-fold. The present compiler has also added a very full account of the earlier generations of the family. The "Register plan" of arrangement is followed. A number of fine illustrations and a thorough index add much to the value of this attractive volume.

The Descendants of John Forry, 1805–1898. Edited and Compiled by Geo. W. Wagenseller A.M., Middleburgh, Penn. 1898. 12mo. [Price 50 cents.]

This pamphlet consists of pages 172 to 180 of the Wagenseller Genealogy and a paper cover bearing the title.

The Descendants of Gottfried Orwig, 1719–1898. Edited and Compiled by Geo. W. Wagenseller, A. M., Middleburgh, Penn. 1898. 12mo. [Price $1.00.]

The pamphlet bearing this title on its cover contains pages 181 to 208 of the Wagenseller Genealogy.

The Pillsbury Family: Being a History of William and Dorothy Pillsbury (or Pilsbery), of Newbury, in New England, and Their Descendants to the Eleventh Generation. Compiled by David B. Pilsbury and Emily A. Getchell. Everett, Mass.: Massachusetts Publishing Company. 1898. 8vo, pp. xxix+307. [Price $4.00.]

Miss Emily A. Getchell has embodied in this volume the results of researches, made during the past thirty years by herself and the late David B. Pilsbury, for the descendants of William Pillsbury of Dorchester and Newbury. She has arranged the family history on a clear and concise plan and prepared a good index, thus making the volume available for quick reference. The book is unusually well printed and strongly bound. One looks almost in vain for those typographical errors which occur so frequently in genealogical books.

John Rogers of Marshfield and Some of his Descendants. By Josiah H.

Drummond, Portland, Me. 1898. 8vo, pp. 194. [Price $1.00. For sale by H. W. Bryant, Portland, Me.]

This volume is offered at a very low price so that it may have a large circulation among those interested in this Old Colony family. From the materials gathered during the preparation of "The John Rogers Families of Plymouth and Vicinity" supplemented by the results of researches made by Miss Rhoda B. Ellis, of Hanover, the Hon. Josiah H. Drummond has compiled a very complete history of this family. The frequent allusions to and quotations from original sources of information indicate the thoroughness and accuracy of the work.

The History of the Wagenseller Family in America, With Kindred Branches. Edited and Compiled by Geo W. Wagenseller, A M., Middleburgh, Penn. Middleburgh, Penn.: Wagenseller Publishing Company. 1898. 12mo. pp. 225. [Price $3.10 postpaid.]

This volume contains a complete record of the descendants of Christopher Wagenseil, of Pennsylvania, and branches of the King, Orwig and Forry families. It is illustrated and indexed.

Extracts from the Note-Book of The Rev John Fiske, 1637–1675. With an Introduction by Samuel A. Green. Cambridge. 1898. 8vo, pp. 24.

These extracts from a Note-book kept by the Rev. John Fiske during his several pastorates at Salem, Wenham and Chelmsford, will prove very valuable additions to the early local history of those towns.

NOTES.

BREWSTER–BRADFORD. The maiden name of Rebecca, wife of John[4] Brewster (Wrestling[3], Love[2], William[1]), does not appear in any of the published accounts of the Brewster family. No record is known to exist of her marriage with Brewster. The following abstracts, taken while gathering data for the Early Generations of the Brewster Family, indicate beyond a doubt that she was the daughter of John and Rebecca (Bartlett) Bradford of Plymouth and Kingston.

The will of John Bradford of Kingston, made the latter end of March last, proved April 28, 1724, bequeaths to my daughter Rebecca my thirty acre lot lying on the north side of Jones River in Plymouth, which I bought of Nathaniel Holmes.

— Plymouth County Probate Records, iv. 439.

Nathaniel Holmes, Jr., of Plymouth, by a deed dated April 15, 1702, conveys to John Bradford, Jr., of Plymouth my lot or tract of Land in Plymouth containing thirty acres, sd Land is on ye North side of Jones River, on Sturtevants Plaine, bounded on ye Southeast End wth a clump of red oake trees marked by the side of ye River & from thence extending north & by west sixty rods to a pine tree marked on ye four sides, & from thence west & by south half a point southerly one hundred rods to a pine tree marked & so down the River & then bounded by the River till it come to ye bounds first mentioned.—Plymouth County Deeds, v. 164.

John Brewster of Kingston and Rebecca his wife, by a deed dated April 18, 1747, convey to Joseph Holmes of Kingston, our thirty acre lot in Kingston lying on the north side of Jones river, bounded beginning at a bunch of red oaks standing on the bank of the river, thence running by land that was formerly Major Bradfords & William Bradford's land till it comes to a great Pine tree, a bound of the land of Joseph Holmes dec'd, & from thence near south west till it comes to the above sd river, then bounded by said river to the bounds first mentioned.

— Plymouth County Deeds, lxiv. 134.

The appearance of the name of Rebecca Brewster in the granting clause of the last deed and the absence of the usual clause releasing right of dower, show that she possessed the land in her own right. The marks, boundaries, size and shape of this tract are identical with those of the tract which John Bradford bought of Nathaniel Holmes and bequeathed to his daughter Rebecca. As there is no record of any transfer of this tract of land either from Rebecca Bradford or to Rebecca Brewster, it becomes apparent that John Brewster's wife was the daughter of John Bradford. The apparent discrepancy in the location of this thirty acre lot (in Plymouth in 1702 and in Kingston in 1747) is explained by the fact that Kingston was established in 1726 from a part of Plymouth.

Descendants of John and Rebecca (Bradford) Brewster will now be able to add to their list of Mayflower ancestors the names of William Bradford, Richard Warren, John Alden, Priscilla, Alice and William Mullins.—Editor.

SAMOSET. The following letter from a well known authority on the language of the Eastern Indians gives the possible derivations of the name "Samoset".*

DIOCESE OF PORTLAND.
VICAR GENERAL'S OFFICE.

BANGOR, DEC. 1, 1898

William Prescott Greenlaw, Esq.,
Boston.

My Dear Sir:

I beg you to excuse my delay in replying to your communication of Nov. 23, in relation to the Indian name "Samoset." Before answering I wished to be able to look over some roots in which to find a probable derivation.

Now my impression is, that like many other Indian names, Samoset is mutilated at the beginning, having lost one syllable at least. In its present form I can find only two possible (I do not venture to give either as probable) derivations. These are from the root San, conveying the idea of strength and firmness, and from Sanb (with n nasal) signifying through, penetrating. There is hardly any doubt that oset in the termination is the relative participial form of the verbal root — osan, osé. This root is generally spelled by the French missionaries with a double s and 8 (Italian u) instead of the o of the English. So that by prefixing the qualifying roots first mentioned to this verbal termination, we form Sano'sset and Sanbo'sset. The first would mean a strong or firm walker or marcher; the second a thorough goer. It is my impression that names thus formed, particularly from the root 'ossé, to march, were quite common.

I give this explanation, however, as merely possible; for it is possible that another syllable, if not more than one, may have preceded Sam—. Thus Wesanmosset would mean an excessive walker, In like manner, though I cannot find its verification at present, I think there is a word, pesamosset, which would mean thick or close, walker. This much can be said in favor of Sanosset, that it possibly may have been Samōsset in the dialect spoken around Pemaquid. For the differences between Indian dialects of the same family mostly consist in the interchange of the liquids, l, m, n, and r. On the other hand, it is no objection to Sanbosset that it has a b, for frequently a b after a nasal n sounds not unlike m. Thus Arenaube in Rastes' dictionary, an Abnaki, has become "Alnambay," and, as it is pronounced by modern Penobscots, requires a practiced ear to catch all the letters.

*See note to Capt. John Somerset's Gift to John and Elizabeth Pearce, ante Vol. I., pages 100-102. See also Coll. Maine Hist. Society. IX. 259-294.

That "Samosset" is an Indian name is confirmed by the circumstance that the name of his associate chief, "Unnongoit," is undoubtedly Indian. Unnongo ' is the relative participle of unangin, to rise (from a bed or lair), and means, the Riser.

Regretting that I cannot give you some more satisfactory answer, I am

Respectfully yours,

M. C. O'BRIEN, V. G.

BOOK NOTES.

A Report of the Record Commissioners of the City of Boston, containing the Boston Marriages from 1700 to 1751. [Prepared by Edward Webster McGlenen.] Boston. 1898. 8vo, pp. viii.+468. [28th report.]

William H. Whitmore, Esq., City Registrar, made no mistake when he chose Mr. McGlenen to prepare the Boston marriage records for publication. The wisdom of his selection is amply shown by the 28th volume of this series. This volume contains the marriages from the official town records, the returns of Boston marriages from the clerks of other towns to the county clerk, marriages found in the various church records not found in the official records, and such intentions as occurred without subsequent record of marriage. These marriages have been carefully compared with the publishments and all differences noted. An excellent, full-name index adds greatly to the usefulness of the volume.

The John Rogers Families of Plymouth and Vicinity. Second and Revised Edition. By Josiah H. Drummond. Portland, 1898. 8vo, pp. 28. Price, fifty cents. For sale by H. W. Bryant, 223 Middle Street, Portland, Me.

The identification of the several persons by the name of John Rogers, who at an early date were residents of Plymouth, Duxbury, Marshfield, Weymouth and Scituate, was a genealogical problem of considerable magnitude. The results of an exhaustive and critical study of this problem are presented in this pamphlet. The additional data in the revised edition confirm the conclusions set forth in the first, where the identity of the different individuals was established beyond a reasonable doubt.

Ancestral Charts so arranged as to show any number of generations and Record of Ancestral Honors, Heirlooms, Portraits, Coat-Armor, etc. Second Edition. Copyrighted 1898, by Eben Putnam. Price in flexible cover, $1.00. For sale by Eben Putnam, Danvers, Mass.

This record book contains thirty-four full-page charts, each having spaces for five generations, four half page charts, and several pages for indexes, list of authorities, and coat armor. The arrangement is very simple, and the book is one of the best yet designed for this purpose, especially for the use of beginners.

NOTES.

LOUISBURG SOLDIERS. Bristol, [Maine,] Feb. 21st, 1848.

Dear Brother — I have delayed writing till now in consequence of waiting for a convenient opportunity to make the inquiries which you desired. Last Saturday I called on Capt. [Israel] Cox — he said he had never heard anything of the company under Capt. Burns you speak of, but said there was a draft made through here for soldiers to defend the place [Louisburg] after it was taken. He gave me a few names that were drafted at that time: John Guinn, one Calwell, James Gaul, James Yates & Ebenezer Cox, his father. He said the place was taken in 1745, given up in 1749, and retaken in 1758. This is all I could gather from him in regard to that affair.

Some time before you asked if Capt. Cox had any old papers relating to Pemaquid, and if so, if he would entrust them to your care a while. I could find but few that related to Pemaquid, and those few seemed to be of but little consequence. I will send them however,— you must take special care of them and return them the first opportunity. * * * *

47. Elizabeth, the second wife of Isaac[3] Sampson, of Plympton and Middleborough, is referred to in the "Hodges Family," Almon D. Hodges, Jr., on the authority of Deacon Edgar Hodges Reed, and Mr. Isaac W. Wilcox, as probably the daughter of Henry Hodges (William[1]) of Taunton. She married (1) Samuel Shaw, of Taunton, born 1698, died Sept. 1730, Raynham, leaving five sons. She married (2) Jan. 12, 1734, Isaac Sampson, of Plympton. She married (3) Nov. 6, 1750, as his second wife, Deacon Edward Richmond, of Taunton, son of Edward and Mary Richmond, who died Feb. 16 or 17, 1771, in his 75th year. VIRGINIA HALL.

BOOK NOTES.

The Defence of Boston in the War of 1812–15. Prepared for the Bostonian Society and United States Daughters of the War of 1812, with an Appendix containing a Bibliography of the War, and a List of the Officers of the Massachusetts Militia engaged in the Defence. By Walter Kendall Watkins. 1899. 8vo, pp. 42. Price, $1.00.

The first twenty-five pages of this pamphlet are devoted to an interesting narration of the measures taken for the defence of Boston in our second war with Great Britain. A valuable bibliography, comprising nearly two hundred titles relating to this war, is given in the next eight pages, and the remaining pages contain a roster of the officers of the Massachusetts militia engaged in the defence of Boston, in the autumn of 1814. This work will be very useful to the student seeking information upon the subjects treated by the compiler.

BOOK NOTES.

The Mayflower Descendant; a Quarterly Magazine of Pilgrim Genealogy and History. Vol. I., No. 1. January; No. 2, April, 1899. Published by the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, 623 Tremont Building, Boston. Two dollars per annum, single numbers sixty cents.

The Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants and its official organ, "The Mayflower Descendant," the first two numbers of which are before us, are a direct reflection of the genius, energy and perseverance of the founder and secretary of the one, and the originator and editor of the other, Mr. George Ernest Bowman. The remarkable success which has crowned his efforts ought to prove gratifying to him, and a source of congratulation to those who have sympathized with his arduous labors. Each of the two numbers of the "Mayflower Descendant" contains sixty-four pages of historical and genealogical material of exceptional value, without a line of "padding." The most notable contribution is an article by Mr. Bowman (to be continued in subsequent issues) on "The Brewster Book," a dilapidated but unique relic, originally composed of at least 368 pages, 124 of which are missing, and containing important material pertaining to early New England affairs, and genealogical data commencing as early as 1593 relating to the genealogy of the Brewster family. Mr. Bowman's re-discovery of this book and his careful transcription of it would alone entitle him to the gratitude of historical and genealogical scholars. The "Descendant" has commenced the publication of exact copies of the Plymouth Colony Wills and Inventories, instalments of which will appear in each number. The wills of Dr. Samuel Fuller and Mary Ring, and inventories of Mary Ring, Peter Brown, Martha Harding and Richard Lanckford have already been printed. A commencement has also been made of exact copies of Plymouth Colony Deeds, beginning with Vol. II., Volume I. having been published in 1861 as Vol. XII. of the "Records of the Colony of New Plymouth." Another valuable serial is the Births, Marriages and Deaths of Scituate, Mass., literally transcribed by the editor. Mr. F. W. Parker contributes to each number (to be continued in subsequent issues) portions of the diary of Jabez Fitch, jr. (born 1737—died 1812), of Norwich, Conn., which abounds with quaint glimpses of colonial life and delicate morsels for genealogists. Mrs. Ella G. S. Pease of Boston contributes an article on the Bible of Paul Prince (the Son of Benjamin Prince and his wife Abiel Nelson), who was born in 1720, married Hannah Cushing in 1743, had ten children born between 1744 and 1763, and died in 1809. He was a descendant of Elder Brewster and was a man of character and ability. The Bible record of John Taylor, a descendant of Edward Winslow, is contributed by Mr. W. A. Nichols of Redlands, California. A valuable feature of the "Descendant" is, and will be, the photographic reproduction of ancient manuscripts illustrative of the Pilgrims and their descendants. Those that have already appeared are two pages of the "Brewster Book," the record of the Paul Prince Bible, the will of Mary (Chilton) Winslow, and a leaf from the John Taylor Bible. The next number, which will be issued shortly, will contain among other contributions, a copy of Peregrine White's will, with a half-tone illustration of the original document, the will of William Mullins, a paper by the editor on the date of Gov. Bradford's Passenger List, the first instalment of the Births, Marriages and Deaths of Plymouth, and of Plympton, a literal copy of the Division of Cattle in 1627, a continuation of the Plymouth Wills, Inventories and Deeds, the Scituate Births, Marriages and Deaths, the "Brewster Book," and the Jabez Fitch Diary. We welcome the appearance of this new historical and genealogical quarterly and predict for it a brilliant and successful future. Mr. Bowman's enthusiasm, of a character which is exceptionally contagious, gives a peculiar vitality to the enterprise.

Chaplain Roswell Randall Hoes, U. S. N.

Sargent Record. William Sargent of Ipswich, Newbury, Hampton, Salisbury, and Amesbury, New England, U. S., with his Descendants and their Intermarriages and other Sargent Branches. Compiled by Edwin Everett Sargent, St. Johnsbury, Vermont. St. Johnsbury, Vermont, 1899. The Caledonian Company, Printers and Publishers. Price $2.20.

This work is by far the best record of the William Sargent Family that has been published. While many fragments of the family history have been published in town histories and similar publications, and there are in existence several manuscript histories of his descendants, this is the first attempt that has been made to publish them as a whole. The other Sargent Families are only briefly mentioned. little more than a page being devoted to them, and it would have been best if all mention of them had been omitted from the title page. The work is well printed, and seems to have but few typographical errors. On page 27 Josiah Sargent's name is given as Joshua, and this error is carried forward to the later generations. On page 30 Cotton Kimball is given as Colton, and the names of his children are not given.

Several of the dates on page 21 are wrong. This evidently arises from the inability of the author to read the old dates. These dates are easy to read if it is kept in mind that Sept, Octo, Novem, and Decem are the Latin names of the months, and before 1700, were correctly used. The first month at that time was March, and January and February were the eleventh and twelfth months. But the year in common use commenced on the first of January as now, so that when the names January and February were used, they were followed by two year dates. Thus Jan. 1, 1645-6, and to translate into modern dates should be read as of the last date.

The birth of William Sargent is given on the Salisbury records: 2d of ye 11 mo 1645-6. This has been incorrectly translated as Nov. 2. 1645. On the Newbury records it is correctly given as Jan. 2, 1646. The birth of Thomas is first given incorrectly as April 11, 1643. The record says 11, 4mo. 1643, and the date is correctly given on the Salisbury record as June. The date of marriage of Thomas is given Jan. 2, 1667. The record says 2nd, 1mo, 1667-8, which according to the present style would be Mar. 2, 1668. His wife's birth is also given Feb. 3, 1648: it should be 30, 2nd Mo. 1649, or Apr. 1649. The death of the first Elizabeth is given July; it should be 7mo. or Sept. The 2nd Elizabeth was b. 8mo. = Oct. and d. 9mo. = Nov. He gives two Sarahs as the children of William. This is an evident error, as one of them died the day the other was born Dec. 29, 1651, is Feb. 29, 1652. The record of birth says 29, 12mo, 1651.

The arrangement of the information is very compact, and all attempt at style is sacrificed for brevity, and this in many cases where it was not at all necessary. Middle names are almost entirely omitted, especially those of the female members of the family. In cases, however, where the name of the male is not carried forward to the next generation, the middle name is given when he is first mentioned; where the name is carried forward the middle name is then given. The name Sargent is not even used in referring to the head of a family. This is of less account as the families of daughters are never carried forward. In some cases even the middle letter is omitted. An instance of this is the name of Philip Watson Challis, who is celebrated among genealogists as being among the first in New England who had a middle name. All information in regard to the parents of women who married Sargents is carefully suppressed. If, however, the woman happened to be a Sargent, a cross reference is given to her parents. There is an excellent index.

The use of abbreviations in the text is far too general. A more logical arrangement of the material would have saved enough space to allow the author to write out much that he has abbreviated. As an instance:

> 583 John[7] b. Canterbury, N. H., Aug. 27, 1799. m. Dec. 1832, Mary Danforth, Danville, Vt. there where she was b. May 22, 1806 d. Mar. 18, 1879. He d. April 19, 1872. both at D. where he was a far. bur. and c.b.

It would be much plainer as follows:

> 583 John[7] b. Canterbury, N. H., Aug. 27, 1799. d. April 19, 1872. m. Dec. 1832, Mary Danforth of Danville, Vt., b. May 22, 1806, d. Mar. 18, 1879. Farmer. They lived, died, and are buried at Danville, Vt.

Cambridge, Mass. STEPHEN PASCHALL SHARPLES, S. B.

John Keep of Longmeadow, Massachusetts, 1660-1676, and his Descendants. Compiled by Frank E. Best. In which is incorporated an unpublished Keep Genealogy prepared by W. J. Keep in 1877; a record of ancestry by Helen E. Keep; and the extended ancestry of Sallie Keep Best. Chicago: 1899. 8vo, pp. 263. For sale by the compiler, P. O. Box 271, Chicago. Price $5.00.

This book treats of the descendants of John Keep whose first appearance on record in America was at Springfield in 1660, and who married, December 31, 1663, Sarah, daughter of John Leonard, of that place. "Some of the descendants of John Keep," says the compiler, "have claimed through John Leonard two lines of descent from William the Conqueror, but this ancestry as claimed is not given here for the reason that the date, place of birth and parentage of John Leonard are not known." A reason worthy of the consideration of a host of Americans seeking "Royal Descents" and "Coats of Arms." Mr. Best has shown equally as good judgment in confining his compilation to the Keep family proper, rarely tracing the descendants of the daughters beyond two generations, usually not farther than one. The volume contains a well-arranged record of nearly a thousand of the descendants of John Keep bearing the name, and is embellished with many appropriate illustrations. The consecutive numbering of the family adds nothing to the usefulness or appearance of the book, and the omission of a binder's title from the back of the volume is to be regretted. An excellent full name index makes the book have permanent value as a work of reference.

Davis Pedigree. By Joseph Davis. Blue print, 20 x 30 inches. Denver, Col., 1899.

This tabular pedigree shows the ancestry in various lines of Joseph, son of William and Maria (Davis) Davis, who was born in Boston, November 24, 1840, and who married at Trinidad, Colorado, November 4, 1874, Sarah Augusta, daughter of Abijah and Elizabeth Ann (Riggs) Davis. A description of a Davis coat of arms is given, but no connection is shown with a transatlantic ancestry.

Dorchester Neck, (Now South Boston). The Raid of British Troops, February 13, 1776. Reprinted from the New-England Historical and Genealogieal Register, April, 1899. With an Account of the First Settlements at the Neck, and Various Miscellaneous Notes. By Francis E. Blake, Boston, 1899. 8vo, pp. 63.

Under the heading "The British Raid on Dorchester Neck, February, 1776," Mr. Blake, in an interesting manner, gives much valuable data relating to that affair, gleaned from various authentic sources and illustrated with a plan which locates the dwellings destroyed at that time. This is supplemented by an illustrated account of the first families who settled on the peninsula then called Dorchester Neck, and later known as South Boston. The Foster, Wiswell, Bird, Withington, Mather-Jones, White-Wiswell, and Blake families are briefly traced by the compiler, and their estates are shown on the plan above mentioned. The sketch of the Blake family is illustrated by autographs, gravestones, and a plan of the Blake estate made by a member of that family in 1749.

In his Miscellaneous Notes, the compiler brings out considerable information concerning the early roads, local topography, divisions of land, taxes, estates, fortifications, and maps of Dorchester Neck. No collection of American local history that pretends to any degree of completeness can afford to be without this pamphlet

JOHN WARD DEAN, A. M.

BY RUTH WOOD HOAG, A. B.

The name of John Ward Dean is familiar to all students of early New England history, because in his long life he has done more to awaken an interest in careful research into the early history of America than almost any other man. A brief sketch of his life will show the importance of his work.

John Dean, the son of Charles and Patience (Kingsbury) Dean, was born in Wiscasset, in what was then the District of Maine, on Monday, March 13, 1815. The house in which he was born was of one story and fronted on Water Street. In his early life he bore the name of John Dean, but on July 13, 1857 his name was legally changed to John Ward Dean. He is descended from John Ward, who came from England in 1639, and was the first minister of Haverhill. The father of the latter was the Rev. Nathaniel Ward of Ipswich, author of "The Simple Cobbler of Agawam," and the compiler of the code of laws adopted by the colony in 1641, and known as "The Body of Liberties." Among his ancestors Mr, Dean also numbers Governor Thomas Dudley, and Henry Sewall, who was several times mayor of Coventry in England, and was progenitor of the well known New England Sewall family. The town of Bridgeton, Maine, was named for John Dean's great-grandfather, Moody Bridges, who was one of its proprietors.

Charles Dean, the father of John Ward Dean, and the son of John and Sarah (Bridges) Dean, was engaged in the saddler's trade in Wiscasset. There, on October 1, 1805, he married Patience Tappan Kingsbury, the daughter of John and Miriam (Place) Kingsbury. Their children were :— Charles, who died in infancy, Sarah Bridges, Mary Morse, Charles, John and Jeremiah. The family lived in Wiscasset until 1817, and in 1823 settled in Portland. Here Charles Dean resided until his death. He had a literary taste, and was particularly fond of controversial writings on religious subjects. He was brought up in strict Orthodox views, but later in life became a Universalist, a denomination of which his father had great horror and dread.

John Dean's first experience at school was in the district school of the village of Mt. Vernon when he was five years of age. There, as was customary in small country villages, he attended a man's school in winter and a woman's school in summer. Though a faithful scholar, it was not until after he had moved to Portland that he began to take a lively interest in his studies. There his teacher, Benjamin C. Fernald, whom Mr. Dean describes as a man of rare tact, first awakened in his mind a love for those studies which he had previously pursued only from a sense of duty. His schooling ended with four months in the Portland High School. Then he learned the book-binder's trade.

In his youth, Mr. Dean was very fond of reading, but had little opportunity for selection, for his father was able to have only a small library. His great-aunt, Mrs. Dorcas Tyler, of Portland, had a set of the Atheneum, a periodical published at Boston. This work resembled "The Living Age," and consisted of selections from English periodicals. This he borrowed number by number, and read from beginning to end when he was about eleven years old. He was always fond of poetry and read all that came in his way. One of the first volumes was Rogers's Poems containing "The Pleasures of Memory," which he read with great enjoyment. The "Night Thoughts" of Dr. Young, and Thomson's "Seasons" followed soon after ; and while he was an apprentice he purchased Aiken's "British Poets," in which his favorite was Milton's "Paradise Lost." After he went into the book-binding business he had books enough to read, and was able to make a selection. He soon began to collect a library, which grew to more than two thousand volumes. In later years his attention has been more especially directed towards books of historical interest, and he has spent many a quiet evening in the perusal of some rare old book.

In the pursuit of his trade, Mr. Dean came to Boston in 1835, and subsequently was in the employ of book-binders in Providence, New York and Philadelphia. In 1841, however, he went into the book-binding business for himself in Providence, R. I., and subsequently in Boston. After a few years, he confined his business to stamping and gilding, an enterprise which he successfully conducted until 1872, when other interests demanded his time.

In 1853 Mr. Dean married Lydia Emerson, daughter of John Scottow and Abigail (Dean) Emerson. During the first five years of their married life they lived on Shawmut Ave., near Hanson Street. The late Rev. Luther Farnham, so prominent in the founding of the General Theological Library, then lived near them. Since 1861, however, Mr. and Mrs. Dean have lived in Medford, where they have a cosy home.

Mr. Dean has always been identified with the Unitarian Church, among whose members he numbers many friends. The late Rev. Caleb D. Bradlee was on intimate terms with him and dedicated to him a volume of his sermons and of his poems. While never taking any prominent part in the business of the Church, Mr. Dean still continues a constant attender of the Church services.

The life of John Ward Dean has centered about the New-England Historic Genealogical Society. To it he has given his best thought and his unwearied service. Elected a member in 1850, he became a life-member in 1859. From the time when he first joined the Society, Mr. Dean took an active part in its proceedings. He filled acceptably one office after another, until, in 1872, he gave up his business to take the position of Librarian. For more than twenty-five years his time has been at the disposal of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society. He resigned his Librarianship in 1889 and devoted his time to editing the Register, but accepted a re-appointment in 1892, and has held the position ever since then. The services which he has rendered have been manifold, as a glance at some of the other offices which he has held will show. For two years, 1855 to 1857, Mr. Dean was Treasurer ; from 1857 to 1858 he was Recording Secretary ; and from 1859 to 1862 Corresponding Secretary ; he was one of the Directors from 1855 to 1889 ; he has been a member of the Council from 1892 until the present time, and has served on the Committee on Publications ever since 1854.

He has been editor of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register since 1876. Before that time he was associate editor of the numbers from Jan. 1859 to Oct. 1860, editor from Oct. 1862 to Oct. 1863, and from July to October 1864. In the interval between 1864 and 1876 he was a member of the Register Club, pledged to the support of the magazine. The value of his labors in connection with the Register cannot be overstated. To him, more than to any one else, is due its success. He has been able to hold the magazine at a uniformly high standard of excellence for nearly a quarter of a century. The Register has stimulated research in fields which would otherwise have remained uninvestigated, and has made invaluable contributions to the history and genealogy of New England. As a result of Mr. Dean's able editing of its magazine, the New-England Historic Genealogical Society has become more widely known and of more valuable assistance to antiquarians than any similar organization.

A large proportion of the literature on New England genealogy and local history has been published within the last forty years. Mr. Dean made himself familiar with each book as it was issued. Indeed, he often suggested the writing of a book which proved a valuable addition to historical literature. The dedication of Mr. George M. Bodge's "Soldiers of King Philip's War" gives one instance of Mr. Dean's part in such works. It reads :— "To Mr. John Ward Dean, at whose suggestion this work was at first undertaken and to whose kindly advice and helpful interest is largely due its measure of success, this volume is affectionately inscribed by the author." The positions which he has held in the New-England Historic Genealogical Society and his intense interest in historical matters have combined with an accurate memory to give Mr. Dean the vast fund of detailed historical knowledge which he has at ready command and has always been ready to share, in his modest and kindly way, with all who have sought his assistance in research. Dartmouth College recognized Mr. Dean's attainments and, in 1869, honored him with the degree of A. M.

All efforts to render the early history of our country more accessible to the general reader have seemed to Mr. Dean worthy of hearty support. He was one of the charter members of the Prince Society, organized in 1858, whose object was the publication of rare works, in print or manuscript, relating to America. He was President of this Society for ten years, and is the only member who has held an office continuously from the organization of the Society until the present time. The publications now number twenty-eight volumes. A project which Mr. Dean has had much at heart is the formation of a society, on the same principle as the Prince Society, which should publish original works illustrating the history and biography of America. Such a society, he has felt, would perform a valuable service in assisting in the publication of works of value which otherwise might never appear in print. He has proposed the plan under various forms and names, but his busy life has prevented his pushing the matter, and it remains to be tried. That Mr. Dean's interest in historical matters is very strong is evident from the fact that even in his short vacation a few years ago, the only one which he has allowed himself, he spent much of his time visiting places of historic note.

Mr. Dean was elected a Fellow of the American Statistical Association in 1858, and has held various offices there. At present he is one of the Vice-Presidents of the Association. Space does not permit the mention of all the historical societies of which Mr. Dean is a member. More than twenty-five societies, not all confined to the United States, have placed his name on their rolls ; one of the latest being the Medford Historical Society, of which he is a charter member.

Mr. Dean's writings have been mainly confined to short biographical sketches, many of which, first appearing in the Register, were later published in pamphlet form. Among these may be mentioned Memoirs of Rev. Giles Firnim, of John H. Sheppard, A. M., of John Merrill Bradbury, and of Col. Joseph L. Chester. Two volumes of greater length should be noticed, the Memoir of Nathaniel Ward, and the Memoir of Rev. Michael Wigglesworth. These works were the result of much careful research on Mr. Dean's part, and are interesting and valuable biographies.

The most important part of Mr. Dean's literary work, however, has been the editing of the writings of others. Aside from the Register already referred to, he edited volumes I. and II., parts 1 and 2, of the first series, and volume IV., part 6, of the second series of the Historical Magazine. Several books and many pamphlets have also been issued under his oversight. A complete list of the works written and edited by Mr. Dean is appended to this sketch.

I may mention that the original portrait of Mr. Dean, of which the photogravure accompanying this sketch is a copy, hangs in the library of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society. It was painted by J. Harvey Young for Hon. John Wentworth of Chicago in 1888, and presented to the New-England Historic Genealogical Society in June of that year by Mr. Samuel Wentworth in behalf of his brother.

At a time when most men would be willing to lay aside the cares of active life Mr. Dean's interest in his work is unabated.

At the age of eighty-four he may yet be found daily in his accustomed place at the library of the Genealogical Society. He still maintains a general oversight of the work which his advanced age has compelled him to entrust largely to others.

BOOK NOTES.

Simsbury Connecticut Births Marriages and Deaths Transcribed from the Town Records And published by Albert C. Bates Librarian Connecticut Historical Society Hartford 1898 [8vo, pp. 345. 150 copies printed. Price $5.00.]

Mr. Bates transcribed the earlier portion of Simsbury records in the autumn of 1889, but, for various reasons, did not begin printing until February, 1898, at which time substantial encouragement was received from Gen. Lucius A. Barbour, of Hartford, a descendant of several early settlers of Simsbury. All of the vital records prior to 1832, from volumes one and two of the deeds, and volumes two, three and four of the transactions of the town, are here printed. The utmost care has been exercised in comparing the proof sheets with the original records, the defects being indicated by brackets, and doubtful readings queried or annotated. The contents are rendered available by a complete full name index in which the present spelling of the surnames is used with references when necessary from former spellings.

Very few of the present generation of Simsbury's inhabitants will fully appreciate the value of Bates's labor for the ultimate preservation of the vital records of their town. Other New England towns may have had their records as carefully copied and edited, but few, if any, have had them printed on stout linen paper like that used in this book. Mr. Bates's occupation is one that daily impresses him with the necessity of using only the best paper for preserving in print primary historical and genealogical data. It is quite probable that many copies of this book, still intact and good for centuries of future use, will survive the time when the wood-pulp volumes to which so many New England town and family memorials have been committed for preservation shall have utterly crumbled away.

Genealogical and Biographical Memorials of the Reading, Howell, Yerkes, Watts, Latham and Elkins Families. By Josiah Granville Leach, LL.B., Member of the Historical and Genealogical Societies of Pennsylvania; New-England Historic Genealogical Society; Virginia Historical Society, and Essex Institute; Historian of Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution, and of Pennsylvania Society of Mayflower Descendants; and author of "Memoranda Relating to the Ancestry and Family of Hon. Levi P. Morton." Printed for private circulation by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia. MDCCCXCVIII. 4to. pp. 286.

This magnificent volume contains fairly complete records of the descendants of John Reading and Thomas Howell, who were pioneers of West New Jersey, and briefer accounts of the other families mentioned in the title. Col. Leach and his printers have spared no pains in their endeavor to make this one of the most attractice memorials of American families thus far issued. The ornamental initials, hèad-pieces, tail-pieces, and title-page which adorn the book, were designed especially for this work by Mr. Edward Stratton Holloway of Philadelphia. It is printed on fine hand-made paper with deckle-edges, and is illustrated by many appropriate engravings.

A Hand-Book of Practical Suggestions for the use of Students in Genealogy. By Henry R. Stiles, A.M., M.D. Author of History of Brooklyn, N. Y.; History and Genealogies of Ancient Windsor, Conn.; The Connecticut Stiles Family; Editor of History of Kings County and the City of Brooklyn; and of The Humphrey Family in America, &c., &c., &c. Copyrighted, 1899, by J. Munsell's Sons. Albany, N. Y.: Joel Munsell's Sons, Publishers. 1899. 4to, pp. 55. Price, $1.00.

A good manual for the use of beginners in American genealogical work has been needed for a long time. Only a slight examination of any large collection of American family histories is needed to convince the most skeptical of the truth of this assertion. In no other division of the entire fund of printed information is it possible to find so many methods of arrangement of similar data, such a variety of sizes, shapes, and styles of volumes, pamphlets, and broadsides, and so low a standard of scholarship. The prevailing idea among family historians seems to have been the production of genealogies differing from all previously printed. Dr. Stiles's book deals in an able manner with most of the problems which sooner or latter confront the novice, and it should be thoroughly studied by every person engaged in compiling a genealogy of an American family.

Ten Years at Pemaquid. Sketches of its History and its Ruins. By J. Henry Cartland. Pemaquid Beach, Maine. 1899. 8vo. pp. vii.+197. Price, $2.00.

Mr. Cartland has endeavored to write an interesting book about a historic locality concerning which much has been written during the last fifty years. He has drawn freely from Professor Johnston's scholarly History of Bristol and Bremen, the Collections of the Maine Historical Society, and various other printed authorities for his materials, Considerable space has been devoted to the ancient ruins, relics and paved streets which mark the site of a once populous settlement. The book will probably have a large sale among the many tourists who visit the place during the summer months,

The Peaslees and Others of Haverhill and Vicinity. By E. A. Kimball. Haverhill, Mass.: Press of Chase Brothers. 1899. 8vo, pp. 72. Price, $1.50.

The compiler of this book has preserved and rendered available to inquirers family traditions concerning the Peaslees and allied families of Haverhill and vicinity. To these fragments of family history have been added many pertinent gleanings from various printed and manuscript sources. Several appropriate illustrations embellish the volume, and a good index adds much to its usefulness.

NOTES.

GAVETT–GAVIT GENEALOGY. Mr. Joseph Gavit, whose father spent some fifteen years in collecting data for a history of this family, proposes to complete the work begun by his father. Persons interested in the history of the family may address Mr. Gavit at the New York State Library.

QUERIES.

A charge of one cent per word is made for the insertion of queries, and a year's subscription to THE ADVERTISER will be given for the first correct answer to each query. Queries which could easily be answered by using well known genealogical books will not be accepted.

LINCOLN COUNTY, MAINE, PETITIONS.

WILLIAM BLAKE TRASK, A. M., of Dorchester, communicated to the New England Historical and Genealogical Register (April, 1890) a "Petition of the Inhabitants of Kennebec River for Protection," dated April 22, 1755, which contains substantially the same names as the first of the two petitions here printed. As there are several names in each petition not found in the other, and as they differ in date nearly three years, it has been thought advisable to print the earlier petition here in full, with rules to indicate the position of the signatures by pages.

The first of the petitions which follow is not dated, but the reference to the date of the first in the second ("in Nov^{r}: 1752"), and the action of the House of Representatives on November 28, 1752, establish its place chronologically as fully two and one-half years earlier than the petition published in the Register.

The second petition here printed differs from the others widely in the names of its signers. The three petitions probably contain the signatures of a large majority of the adult male inhabitants of that part of York County which was incorporated July 21, 1760, as Lincoln County. The signatures are arranged in two columns in the first petition, and in three in the second.

Province of the Massachusetts Bay } To the Honourable Spencer Phips Esq^{r}. Lieutenant Governour and Commander in Chief in and over s^{d} Province. To the Hon^{ble}: his Majesty's Council for the same & the Honourable House of Representatives ——

Humbly Shew

The Proprietors of that Tract of Land lying on Both sides of Kennebeck River which was granted to the late Colony of New Plymouth in their Charter & afterwards by that Colony granted to Antipas Boys & others Together with Sundry of the Principal Settlers & Residents within the Limits of said Tract ——

That the Inhabitants of said Tract had formerly the Privilege of holding a Court within that District & were vested with a peculiar Jurisdiction of matters arising among them in Subordination to the Government of the late Colony of New Plymouth that of Later Times the Courts of Justice held in and for the County of york have exercised Jurisdiction not only over your Petitioners Tract aforᵈ. but also over all Lands lying to the Eastward thereof to the utmost Limits of this Province Eastward but how or by what Law they became possessed of that Jurisdiction Your Petitioners could never yet be able to Discover That the great Distance that Suitors, Witnesses & Jurors have to Travel from said Tract to York together with the Badness & Danger of the Roads thither are a great Difficulty and Burden to your Petitioners the Settlers on said Tract which together with the perplexity arising from the Doubtfullness of such Courts Jurisdiction over them and Danger that the Judgements obtained in such Courts in Local Actions arising among them may some time or other be called [264] in Question and Reversed are a great Discouragement to your Petitioners in their Settlement and that it would very much Facilitate and Promote the further peopling and Improving said Tract and Render the Expensive Efforts of your Petitioners the Proprietors to Settle the same more Successful if said District was erected into a Distinct County Your Petitioners therefore pray your Honour and the Honourable Houses would please to take the premises into your wise Consideration and make your Petitioners Tract aforᵈ. a Distinct and Seperate County with the usual Privileges and Jurisdictions of a County or otherwise relieve your Petitioners upon the premises as Your Wisdom shall Direct and Your Petʳˢ: &c

[207] Governour and Commander in Chief in & over His Majestys Province of the Massachusetts Bay and the Honourable the Council & Honourable House of Representatives. The Memorial of

Humbly Sheweth

That a great number of the Inhabitants of the County of York to the Eastward of North Yarmouth, petitioned the Great & General Court in Novr: 1752. to be formed into a Distinct & Seperate County, for the reasons in said Petition mentioned, which Petition as we are inform'd was revived in Feby: 1760. and then refered together with a Petition from Falmouth for a New County to the next May Sessions your Memorialists having long experienced the great charge inconvenience & hardship of attending upon Courts at a Distance.

Humbly pray your Honours that a New County may be formed in the Easterly part of the County of York to be bounded on the West by a line to run from some part of Casco=Bay to Amorescoggin River and from thence by Amorescoggin River and all that part of the Province which lies to the Eastward of such a line may be included in said New County; and that Pownallborough may be the Shire or County Town, and have the Priviledge of being Represented at the General Court, all which will greatly accommodate the Inhabitants and have a great tendency to incourage the Growth & Settlements of that part of the Province.

BOOK NOTES.

The English Ancestry of Reinold and Matthew Marvin of Hartford, Ct., 1638 — Their Homes and Parish Churches By William T. R. Marvin, A. M., Member N. E. Hist. Gen. Society ..... Privately printed. Boston. 1900. 8vo. pp. 184. For sale by T. R. Marvin & Son, 73 Federal Street, Boston. Price $3.00, strictly net. Sent prepaid on receipt of $3.15.

This is the result of a search in English original records in 1897–99; the author gives particulars of seven generations in England; he has established the birthplace of the brothers from whom the New England Marvins were descended, and located the estate of their father, so that one who visits the Parish can identify the lands he once owned and the spot where he lived. The Registers of the Church, telling of the baptisms of the emigrants and their children, are still preserved; these, with other Registers consulted, and Wills, make the foundation of the work, which contains seventeen Marvin Wills (1475–1622), with abstracts of nine others of members of allied families (mostly daughters' husbands), including those of the grandfather, father, and other relatives of the emigrants, copied verbatim et literatim from originals or official records never before printed. These give the names of residences and estates once owned by Marvins, and often the names of their tenants. The author states that each Parish named in the Wills was visited if its Register was old enough to give light. In one of these, families bearing the name are living to-day. Descriptions of their ancient Churches and the names of their Clergy and other historical facts are given. The volume has two maps — photogravures of those in Camden's Britannia — one with notes added to show localities of Marvin homes; a view of the Church where Reinold and Matthew were baptized, of the Green near by, and the Church in a neighboring Parish where their grandfather lies buried, from photographs. It is fully indexed, printed on antique deckle-edge paper, and is bound in buckram.

Early Records of Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths, and Membership of the Congregational Church, East Hampton, (Chatham,) Conn. Middletown, Conn. 1900. 8vo. pp. 76. For sale by M. L. Roberts, 92 DeWitt St., New Haven, Conn. Price, $1.00.

This pamphlet is a reprint from the History of East Hampton Congregational Church. It includes pages 77 to 150 of that volume, the same pagination being retained in the reprint. It contains Rev. John Norton's record of births, baptisms, marriages, deaths, and admissions from 1764 to 1771; Rev. Lemuel Parsons's record of baptisms, marriages, and deaths from 1779 to 1790; Rev. Joel West's record of baptisms, marriages, and deaths from 1792 to 1826; and various lists of members compiled by Martin L. Roberts, which contain considerable genealogical data. Rev. John Norton's records covering the period from 1772 to 1778 are supposed to have been destroyed by fire. Dr. Edward E. Cornwell of Brooklyn now has possession of that part of the original record of Rev. Mr. Norton printed in this pamphlet.

Rev. Dudley Woodbridge his Church Record at Simsbury in Conn., 1697–1710. Published with prefatory notes by Albert C. Bates Librarian Connecticut Historical Society. Hartford. 1894. 8vo, pp. 32. Edition, 100 copies.

About ten years ago the attention of a Middletown antiquarian was called to an old and badly tattered manuscript which on account of its venerable appearance had escaped the fate of its companions, consignment to the paper mill. This manuscript proved to be the Rev. Dudley Woodbridge's Record of the Church at Simsbury which had been missing for many years. The church, having recovered the record, permitted Mr. Albert C. Bates, librarian of the Connecticut Historical Society, to transcribe and publish it. The record comprises the church covenant, and admissions and baptisms from November 10, 1697 to February 12, 1709–10. Many of the baptismal records contain also the date of birth. Mr. Bates presents valuable biographical memoranda relating to Rev. Dudley Woodbridge in his prefatory notes and completes the work with a good full-name index. Every page of this pamphlet bears evidence of the most painstaking care in the transcription and the proof-reading.

A Brief Account of the Ancestry and Descendants of William Bedlow Crosby, of New York, and of Harriet Ashton Clarkson, his wife. By Ernest Howard Crosby. Reprinted from the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record for October, 1898, January, April and July, 1899. 4to, pp. 24.

William Bedlow (5) Crosby was descended from Simon (1) Crosby who died at Cambridge, Mass., in September, 1639. The line of descent was through Joseph (2) Crosby of Braintree who married Sarah Brackett; Major Joseph (3) Crosby, Jr., of Braintree who married Ann Belcher; and Dr. Ebenezer (4) Crosby, who married Catharine Bedlow of New York.

Harriet Ashton (5) Clarkson was descended from Matthew (1) Clarkson, who was Secretary of the Province of New York, and died in 1702. The line of descent was through Matthew (2) Clarkson, Jr., who married Cornelia Bancker de Peyster; Dr. Gerardus (3) Clarkson who married Mary Flower; and Rev. William (4) Clarkson who married Catharine Floyd.

The first nineteen pages of this pamphlet are devoted to an extended and interesting account of William Bedlow and Harriet Ashton (Clarkson) Crosby and their ancestors, the remaining pages to a well arranged genealogy of their descendants. The illustrations are portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby and a view of the Rutgers-Crosby house in New York City. An index would have added to the usefulness of this reprint.

Annals of Yarmouth and Barrington, Nova Scotia, in the Revolutionary War. Compiled from original manuscripts, etc., contained in the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, State House, Boston, Mass. By Edmund Duval Poole. Yarmouth, N. S. Reprinted from the Yarmouth Herald. J. Murray Lawson. 1899. 8vo. pp. 133.

Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and the adjacent country was settled about 1760, largely by people from the eastern counties of Massachusetts. The beginning of hostilities between the colonies and Great Britain placed these settlers in an extremely delicate position. They wished to remain neutral. They were bound to the people of Massachusetts not only by the ties of friendship and kinship but also by the strongest commercial interests. Massachusetts furnished them a ready market in which to exchange the products of their own country for needed provisions and supplies. This market was closed by the war, and the privateers which infested the coast of Nova Scotia practically closed all other markets and caused much suffering, especially in the coast towns. The story of how these settlers managed to secure immunity from the privateers and to keep up trade relations with Massachusetts on account of services rendered is unfolded in the letters, petitions, depositions and records preserved in the Massachusetts Archives and printed in this volume. It is an interesting story of a kind, shrewd people remaining quasi-loyal to their own government and friendly to their former neighbors and their kindred who were in rebellion against that government.

Foster Genealogy being the record of the posterity of Reginald Foster an early inhabitant of Ipswich, in New England, whose genealogy is traced back to Anacher, Great Forester of Flanders, who died in 837 A. D. With wills, inventories, biographical sketches, etc. Also the Record of All Other American Fosters. By Frederick Clifton Pierce, author of the Batcheller, Brocklebank, Fiske, Whitney, Pierce, Peirce, and Pearce Genealogies, Hawke Memorial, Forbes-Forbush and Gibson Genealogies, History of Grafton, History of Barre, History of Rockford, Pierce Memorial, Field Genealogy. Published by the author. Chicago. 1899. 8vo. pp. 1081.

This volume is similar in many respects to the genealogies of the Whitney, Fiske and Batcheller families recently published by the same compiler. Besides the family of Reginald Foster of Ipswich, it contains genealogies of the Foster families of Dorchester, Salem, Long Island, Scituate, Chelmsford, and Kingsware (Eng.); an article on the origin of the name by John Fiske; a pedigree of "The Early Foresters"; a generous extract from one of Sir Walter Besant's novels, "Dorothy Foster"; lists of soldiers, pensioners and college graduates bearing the name; and descriptions of the Farne Islands, Bamborough Castle and St. Aidan's Church.

The pedigree of "The Early Foresters" deduces the descent of Reginald Foster from "Anacher, Great Forester of Flanders" who died in 837, through "Thomas, Cuthbert, Sir Thomas, Sir Thomas, Sir Thomas, Sir Thomas, Sir Thomas, Sir Thomas, Sir William, Sir Richard, Sir Reginald, Sir Alfred, Sir Randolph, Sir John, Sir William, Sir Reginald, Sir Hugo, Sir Richard, Baldwin IV, Baldwin III, Baldwin II, Baldwin I." Truly a remarkable pedigree, supported in several generations by giving the dates of the wills!

There is little to commend in a hastily compiled and inadequately indexed volume of more than a thousand pages in fine print on cheap paper, in which are included the records of families of a similar name, but having no known connection. ***

NOTE.

The Old Planters Society. A new historical society was organized in Boston, March 1, 1900, to be known as The Old Planters Society. Its chief objects are to encourage the study of the beginnings of New England History and to perpetuate the memory of the earliest settlers of that section.

Membership is limited to the descendants of a proprietor, or a planter, or other settler in New England prior to the transfer of the Charter of the Massachusetts Bay Company from England to New England in 1630. While the membership is based on descent, it is not the purpose of the founders to make it a social organization, but rather to make it a live, working historical body. It is expected that an historical publication will be commenced at an early date.

The officers are Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, LL. D., of Cambridge, president, Frank Augustine Gardner, M. D., of Salem, vice-president, Eben Putnam, of Burlington, Vt., secretary, Frank Vernon Wright, Esq., of Salem, treasurer; Francis Ellingwood Abbot, Ph. D., of Cambridge, Capt. Augustus Peabody Gardner, of Hamilton, Mrs. Lucy Hall Greenlaw of Cambridge, Col. Josiah Granville Leach, LL. B., of Philadelphia, Edward Oliver Skelton of Boston, Miss Mary Cummings Sawyer of Wellesley Hills, William Crowinshield Endicott, Jr., of Danvers, Frederic Ward Putnam, S. D., of Cambridge, and Mrs. Ida Farr Miller of Wakefield, members of the council.

The list of members (subject to proof of descent) includes besides the officers above named, Hon. George Frisbie Hoar, LL. D., of Worcester, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, LL. D., of Nahant, Hon. Henry Nichols Blake, LL. B., of Helena, Montana, Hon. Henry C. Leach of Salem, Edgar Conway Felton of Philadelphia, Francis William Sprague of Brookline, Edwin Child Miller of Wakefield, John Edward Heaton of New Haven, William Prescott Greenlaw of Cambridge, Willis B. Ropes of Salem, William Blake Trask, A. M., of Dorchester, Thomas Conant,

M. D., of Gloucester, Joel Ernest Goldthwait, M. D., of Boston, Miss Maria T. A. Gardner of Marblehead, Francis Higginson Lee of Salem, Mrs. Francis B. Troup of Honiton, England, Mrs. Frank W. Smith of Wibaux, Montana, Mrs. Antoinette W. Davis of New York, Mrs. Ruth Wood Hoag of Dorchester, Mrs. Sarah S. Clement of Rutland, Vt., Mrs. William Gerry Slade of New York, Augustus A. Galloupe of Beverly, and Mrs. Louisa Turner Hodgdon of Boston.

Thomas Johnston, when but a boy, purchased on credit a supply of goods and started on a peddling expedition in Scotland. His entire stock of goods was stolen in the night at a tavern where he stopped, and fearing to return and meet his creditor, he determined to try his fortune with a party of emigrants who were going to America to settle upon the Waldo patent. The letters which follow give considerable information about his family in Scotland.

Brother, I received your letter to my astonishment, dated on the 18th of Nov. 1789 by the hand of Mr. Proctor in Softlaw near Kelso, which I will see myself indebted to him as long as I live, for the great trouble he has been at to get it delivered safe to me. In the first place with respect to your parents, our mother died in Preston in March 1772, and she mourned till the day of her death for you; and I think I hear my old father joining that speech (you know where it stands) when your letter arrived here, my son was dead & is alive, was lost and is found, — bring hither the fatted calf, dress it and let us eat and be merry. But to give you a more particular account of our aged parents; when our mother died my father was so struck with palsey that he was incapable of action, but she was decently interred in Preston churchyard by her 3 sons and 2 sons-in-law. My father died in Nov. in the year 1775 in the 77th year of his age, and is lying in Preston churchyard.

But to give you an account of us all I shall begin with our oldest brother John, who learned his trade with George Johnston in Abbey St Bathans, a weaver. He married as soon almost as he was free from an apprenticeship. His wife's name is Baby [Barbara] White; — you will remember her. She lived in Cattledugh [Castleshield?]; by her he had 6 sons and 2 daughters. The daughters died in infancy and 2 of his sons have fallen since. The names of those that survive are Thomas, David, John, and William. But I am sorry to let you know that he died in August 1781; and if he be not happy this day I do not know when I shall appear. David, his second son, is a weaver, and is in the house with his mother. John and William are paper-makers. Thomas learned no business; and I do not know where he is now. Our brother John died in Chirnside, and was interred in Preston churchyard. Our sister-in-law is now in Alumbank-quarter [?], a widow. To come now to our oldest sister Margaret; she married a very sober young man whose name is James Greenlaw; they lived mostly in Lammermuir. She had to him 7 sons, and 3 daughters; 2 sons and 1 daughter died in infancy, and there are 5 sons and 2 daughters living. The oldest daughter is married; her name is Jenet; her sister Jean keeps the house with her father. Our brother-in-law at this time is living in Dunselaw. His sons names are Thomas, James, Robert, Andrew and John, the youngest, who I think is 12 years old. But now, brother, I am sorry to tell you our sister died in March 1788, and left, I dare say, a loving husband and a heavy family. He still remains a widower. I come now to our youngest sister Baby [Barbara] who married a very sober young man whose name was Robert Gray, a mason to his business. Babbay [Barbara] had to him 5 children, whose names were John & Jenat, Jean, Thomas, and Margaret. John & Jenat are twins, and both alive; Jean and Thomas died in infancy. But again I tell you with lamentation our brother-in-law died in January in the year 1776, and left our sister with 3 small children. No doubt but she has had her own difficulties, but the youngest is now about 13 years old. Babby [Barbara] still remains a widow, and is living just now at Burnhouse (?) near Cockburn. Our youngest brother Rodger married a young woman whose name was Margaret Todd, and by her he has 4 children, 2 sons and 2 daughters, Jenat, James, Thomas, and Margaret. At this time he is living in Horsly (?) and follows laboring work.

I return to myself, I am your brother Andrew Johnston; I married Jean Cairns, daughter of James Cairns in Blackhouse. She was brought up at Elm-ford with her uncle John Cairns, you will mind her. She has borne to me 5 sons and 4 daughters, [of whom] I have just now living 1 daughter and 4 sons. Their names are Jean, James, John, Robert, and Trotter (?). My oldest son, Thomas, was killed with a cart-wheele when 14 years of age, and 3 daughters died in infancy. I live just now in Castleshield where I have been 17 years with a gentleman whose name is John Trotter, Esq. I never learned any business, but like old Jacob, have been a keeper of Sheep from my youth up. I live in the parish of Longformacus and have done for nearly 30 years. You was born there; and I have consulted their Sessions records, and find you (were) born March 31st, 1735. So if this comes safe to your hand you will easily know your age.

Sir: — I think we received two letters dated from America in the year 1755, both about the same time, but I mind very little about it, being then but a boy; but I know my father wrote to your direction often. But I see you have received only one [of them]. If this comes safe to your hands take it as a token of love from all your brothers and sisters and their families. To cover our every circumstance of life that has happened this family since you left Britain I have neither room [for] nor do I mind [remember] them. Old uncle John Mill is still alive in Earlstone schoolmaster; and our 2 cousins in Kelso, Ann and Margaret Trotter are in health. Sir in the year 1780 I settled an account with Adam Wilson, merchant in Dunse, which you had left him, and I took his discharge, which is still in my possession [for] £4..5s..6d. Sir you will not take this last clause of my letter ill, for believe it, brother, I would rather see your face in Scotland once more than be in possession of your estate. My love to my sister-in-law and sons and daughters. I remain your loving brother till death.

Andrew Johnston.

Castleshield January 23, 1790.

Mr. Proctor begs his compl. to Mr. Johnson, is happy he has found out his friends. His br. And. is with me at Softlaw 31 January 1790.

To the care of John Proctor, Esq of Softlaw by Kelso.

Direct for me And. Johnston, overseer in Castleshield, near Dunse.

Loving Brother, in haste of postage [so as to send?] by Mr. McLean; we are all well, and all friends. As to the contents of your letter about sending the bill of exchange on a merchant in Glasgow, as for that matter I shall make a passover till your opportunity offers. As for any of our friends coming over there can be nothing said at present. If we were to see one another face to face [it] would be the greatest happiness and make an amends for all. As for Adam Wilson's bill it was £4; his receipt is in my possession. Your sister Margaret's oldest son is in the West Indies, in the military line; his name is Thomas Greenlaw.

Brother, I let you know [that] I [have] lost my youngest son since I wrote you last; which is hard for the mother. I must conclude as in haste; and believe me, dear brother, to remain your most affectionate [brother] till death.

Edinburgh
12 March, 1792.

And. Johnston.

P. S. Direct to me as formerly, Castleshield, Stuart, by Dunse. Brother remember I am a lover of the Hanover Family.

Superscribed "Thos. Johnston, Esq. Bristol, to the care of Rev. Mr. McLean.

Dear Brother — I received, by post, yours with Mr. McLean's postcript, on the 10th of September. He writes me that his health is bad, and that he will not be able to come to me; but if he does come I will take care of him as a friend. I have written him that I must be in Edinburgh and Falkirk about the 12th of October, and if he be within 60 miles I shall see him. I do believe we shall be happy together, but I should have been tenfold happier to have seen a brother near 40 years out of mind. I mind [remember] very little of you; — it is surprising Babby [Barbara] minds more of you than I do; Rodger does not remember of seeing you at all. Brother at the appearance of your first letter I was so struck and overcome that I was speechless for about one hour; — whether it was joy or grief I could not tell. — To return to your last letter, my time being short, for Mr. McLean writes me that the vessel is to sail in less than ten days, which gives me no time to consult my friends. But I thank you kindly in the name of all of us for your offer of assistance in case of transportation. With regard to myself I have reason to thank my God that I have had the necessaries of life both to serve myself and to help a weak brother as I have often done; and I can add that I never had a brother or sister but they have received of my liberal (?) bounty; — more so I believe than I shall be well paid back. Nevertheless I have both meat and money, to serve myself; and it would be vain in me to attempt to change my native [country] and despise the goodness of my God. Brother, you complain of want of money in America; if that be the case it is not so in Scotland, for I can see no pinch. If I be in a strait [I can] go to Dunse banking office with a friend and draw £20, or £50, or £100 for six or twelve months at five per cent, so that men of credit and honesty can carry on a good business if smart and not have any great stock of his own. North Britain is greatly altered since you left it, as much as one penny Scotch is to one shilling Sterling. Brother you have neglected this grand opportunity of paying me that account. It was, I own, out of Wilson's power to compel me, but when I came up I determined that your name should not stick in the Merse Country; for I always think that saying true that if a man be not just to his neighbor whom he has seen he never can be just to his God whom he never saw, and will at last be found wanting in the balance of the sanctuary. But to return from this digression: My brother John's family have behaved themselves very well, and do nothing without my advice; — and Baby [Barbara] and her family the self-same. But I have not [recently] seen any of them, being at a good distance, and my time short for fear of losing the vessel, so that I cannot advise you of doing anything at all until March when Mr. McLean goes home. We shall then have a meeting, and I shall advise them forward as much as I possibly can. As for my oldest son, he is an apprentice for a gardener; and if he were out of his time, I would send him to you, and you should be his governor: — and be sure to keep your youngest daughter for him, and induce him to aspire to that lofty title which you assume to yourself, Esq.!

Brother, I am happy to hear of the prosperity of your family, but sorry to hear of the frailty of my sister which I never saw. Pray do not fail to write me in March how she is, and all friends.

Brother farewell
And. Johnston

FALMOUTH, MASS., RECORDS.

The first book of Falmouth Town Records, a thin folio volume which has recently been treated with the Emery process, is written in from both ends, the volume being reversed, and the original paging beginning at 1 in each end and meeting near the centre of the volume. This arrangement makes about one-half of the book upside down, no matter which way it stands, and leaves in doubt which end is the beginning. A copy of the book made for the town about twelve years ago begins with what is, in the present binding, the back of the volume and continues with the matter in its present front. The records as here printed follow the order of the copy but are transcribed from the original. They comprise the vital records only, which are mixed in with the town proceedings, records of ear marks and other miscellaneous matter.

BOOK NOTES.

Genealogy of the Descendants of Edward Bates of Weymouth, Mass. By Samuel A. Bates, Vice-President of Quincy Historical Society; Honorary Member of Weymouth, Old Colony, and Maine Historical Societies. Author of "History of Braintree, Mass.;" "Ancient Iron Works at Braintree" (first in America); "Revolutionary Soldiers of Braintree." Editor of "Printed Records of Braintree." Frank A. Bates, Publisher, South Braintree, Mass. 1900. 8vo, pp. 145. Price $1.25.

The principal part of this genealogy was prepared by the late Samuel Austin Bates, who, for many years, was town clerk of Braintree. The work was completed, edited and published by his son. A biography of Edward Bates, the progenitor of the family, precedes the genealogy, and it is followed by a biography of the family historian. A list of Revolutionary soldiers and two indexes of names complete the volume.

Diary of Increase Mather, March, 1675 — December, 1676. Together with Extracts from another Diary by him, 1674—1687. With an Introduction and Notes, by Samuel A. Green. Cambridge: John Wilson and Son. University Press. 1900. 8vo, pp. 56.

This fragment of Dr. Mather's diary, which has survived the ravages of time and has been rendered available to the public by Dr. Green, gives a vivid glimpse of the inner life of the diarist and of the times in which he lived. The brief items, which the writer jotted down apparently for later use in more extended form, and the intermingled pious ejaculations, detail his daily occupations, illustrate the working of his mind and show the kind of mental and spiritual food then considered necessary for the puritan minister. His solicitude for the safety of Boston and for the welfare of his own family is shown in frequent examinations of himself and of "ye pvblick state of things."

The diarist begins on the first day of the year (1m. 25d. 1675) with one of these examinations in which he mentions as reasons for Providence putting him

"upon Humiliation extraordinary", "ye sins of ye year past", "My old sins," "The plagues of Hrt yt doe still abide me." As to the public state of affairs he notes the low estate of the Lord's people, the poverty of the country, the unsatisfactory condition of trade, the desolation of the "Colledge" and designs against New England. He records no resolutions for the new year. His prayer is that the public may be delivered and blessed, the Colledge be revived and "yt Boston may be preserved from Fires e [and] from mortal diseases."

Again and again, after similar examinations, we find him praying that Boston may be delivered from fires and desolating judgments. His prayers were in vain. The long dreaded conflagration, the danger of which he so clearly saw, came at last, and we find him thus chronicling it under date of November 27, 1676: "This was ye Fatal e dismall day, wn ye Meeting House e Houses yrabouts, e mine amongst ye Rest were burnt wh fire."

Besides the original diary for 1675–6, the pamphlet contains extracts from another diary by Dr. Mather. These extracts were made by Dr. Jeremy Belknap more than a century ago from the original which is now supposed to be lost. They extend from 1674 to 1687 and illustrate that interesting period of New England history.

Dr. Green has rendered a service of inestimable value to historians and genealogists in making this diary accessible. ***

The Genealogy History and Alliances of the American House of Delano 1621 to 1899 Compiled by Major Joel Andrew Delano with the History and Heraldry of the Maison de Franchimont and de Lannoy to Delano, 1096 to 1621 and the Royal ancestry of Lannoy from Guelph, Prince of the Scyrri, to Philippe de Lannoy, 476 A. D. to 1621 including other royal lines and a list of the Lannoy Chevaliers de la Toison d'Or [Golden Fleece] arranged by Mortimer Delano de Lannoy Pursuivant-of-armes Member New York Genealogical and Biographical Society Société Suisse d'Heraldique and Herold Society zu Berlin. New York 1899. 4to, pp. 561.

The greater part of this work is devoted to the descendants of Philip Delano (De La Noye) who came to Plymouth on the "Fortune" in 1621, and married, Dec. 19, 1634, Hester Dewsbury. The compilation was made by Maj. Joel Andrew Delano of Grove, Michigan, and appears to have been conscientiously done. The book is printed on excellent paper: it would seem, however, that the amount of money expended, might, by intelligent disposition, have secured a work of largely increased value to present and future generations.

From the title page we infer that Mortimer Delano de Lannoy is responsible for everything contained in the book except the collection of the genealogical material, and for the editing of that. In spite of all that has been written regarding the logical arrangement of family genealogies, here we are given a book that abandons all precedent, and jumbles the various families together in a way that renders the tracing of ascent and descent a matter of the greatest difficulty. No superior numerals, denoting the generation, nor consecutive numbers appear. While the title "pursuivant-of-armes" is doubtless mellifluent, however derived, (certainly not from the Heralds' College,) in this work it appears synonymous with an utter inconception of the features essential to a genealogy and of the value of punctuation.

The first ninety odd pages and an inserted chart give "every direct and indirect line of [the immigrant's] ancestry from the earliest known data — authentic and otherwise." The historical value of this portion needs no comment other than the author's own!

The evil of an atrocious arrangement might easily have been palliated by a complete full-name index. The opportunity is neglected. All surnames beginning with a given letter are grouped together regardless of their second letter. Given names occur only of Delanos. Cora Delano appears first on the list and Carmen last!

As far as editing is concerned the book is valuable mostly as an example of what to avoid. ***

Proceedings of the John Bean (1660) Association, at its Annual Reunion at Portland, Me. August 31, 1899. [Portland, 1900.] 8vo, pp. 97 to 152.

An account of the fourth reunion of this Association, a register of members attending the same, and biographical notices of deceased members are given in the opening pages of this pamphlet. The necrologies are of John Harper Blaisdell of Haverhill, Mass., Charles Edwin Bean of Iowa City, Ia., Flora Stella Bean of Littleton, N. H., Emma Jane Wadleigh of Waterloo, and Jonathan Gibson Bean of Brownfield, Me. The remaining pages contain the continuation, from last year's Proceedings, of the Genealogy of John Bean, prepared by Hon. Josiah H. Drummond.

The Gorham Family in Rhode Island. Notes on the Providence Line, by Georgiana Guild; Bristol Branch, by Henry S. Gorham. Boston: Printed by David Clapp & Son. 1900. 8vo, pp. 10. Price, twenty cents. For sale by Miss Guild, 34 Pratt St., Providence, R. I.

This pamphlet is a reprint from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register. It was compiled to refute certain errors in print concerning the Rhode Island Gorhams. The work has been done with great care, and references to the original sources of information are given in footnotes.

The California Register. Vol. I, No. 1. April, 1900. San Francisco: Published by the California Genealogical Society. [Dr. Edward Stephens Clark, May Stansbury Mansfield, and Zoeth Skinner Eldredge, Committee on Publication. Quarterly, $2.00 per annum, single numbers 60 cents.]

This new periodical is patterned after the New England Historical and Genealogical Register with the exception that a tabular pedigree occupies the place of the usual portrait. The initial number contains a tabular pedigree showing the ancestry of Mrs. Selden S. Wright; genealogies of Holmes, Hughes, Pearl, Pope, and Peet families, all arranged on the "Register" plan; constitution, lists of members and of officers of the California Genealogical Society; a catalogue of genealogies and local histories owned in the vicinity of San Francisco; and notes, queries and book notes. The committee have done well to make such a good beginning, and if their present standard of excellence is maintained, The California Register will make for itself a permanent place in American genealogical literature.

The Wade Genealogy being Some account of the origin of the name, and of the lost folk-story of the famous hero, Wada, particulars and pedigrees of famous Englishmen of the name, and Genealogies of the families of Wade of Massachusetts and New Jersey, to which are added many miscellaneous pedigrees, also A roll of honor of the Wades who went to War. Illustrated with portraits and coats-of-arms. Compiled by Stuart C. Wade. New York, Stuart C. Wade, 146 West 34th Street. 1900. Part I. pp. 96. Price $1.00.

Part I of this genealogy is divided into two chapters, the first treating of the origin and etymology of the name, the second of its antiquity, illustrated with English pedigrees. Forty-two pages are devoted to the origin of the name, from which we will quote two sentences found on page sixteen. "As to the origin of the family-name, nothing of any significance can be said. Speculation in this direction is futile." The second chapter is of doubtful value to American Wades, unless the compiler has better evidence than that presented on page eighty-four for an English connection.

A History of the Allerton Family in the United States, 1585 to 1885, and a Genealogy of the Descendants of Isaac Allerton, "Mayflower Pilgrim," Plymouth, Mass., 1620. By Walter S. Allerton, New York City, 1888. Revised and Enlarged by Horace True Currier, Chicago. Published by Samuel Waters Allerton, Chicago, Illinois. 1900. 8vo, pp. 149.

The compiler of this revised edition of the Allerton Family states in the preface that it is issued to add facts found since the publication of the first edition and "to correct errors which almost invariably occur in Genealogies through incorrect family records thought to be true when published, but afterwards found otherwise."

With the compiler's purpose in mind, we shall first examine his account of Isaac (1) Allerton's family on pages twenty-nine and thirty. There we find it stated that Remember (2) Allerton, daughter of Isaac (1), probably died soon after 1627, and that her sister Sarah (2) married Moses Maverick of Marblehead. Prior to the publication of Bradford's History in 1856 this error was excusable, but even then a patient searcher after the truth might have found an old document at Salem which gives Remember as the name of Moses Maverick's wife. This ancient writing may be seen in the files of the Essex County Probate Court (No. 30318). It is a petition of Remember and John Woodman, minor children of Edward and Remember Woodman and grandchildren of Moses Maverick, dated 22 September, 1693, and endorsed on the back is "Daughters of Moses & Rember Maverick". It should be borne in mind that Marblehead was a part of Salem until about the time when Bradford wrote "His doughter Remember [Allerton] is maried at Salem, & hath 3 . or 4 . children living."

A reference on this same page twenty-nine sends us off to the Appendix, Note A., for information about the Brewster family. There we find that the compiler has borrowed four pages from an article published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, the writer of which is to be congratulated upon the omission of the customary acknowledgment. A comparison of Note A. with the original article shows that the few changes that have been made have wrought havoc with its accuracy. In a single sentence on page 117 the compiler is able to make such changes as to add two passengers to the Mayflower list — one as a wife four years before her marriage, the other as a child five years before his birth — and to have that famous vessel drop anchor in Plymouth harbor five days before her arrival!

The modification of some of the extravagant statements in the biography of Isaac (1) Allerton and the omission of the derogatory reference to Governor Bradford would have been an improvement in that part of the book. ***

NOTES.

Pioneers of Massachusetts. Rev. Charles Henry Pope, pastor of the First Church of Charlestown, compiler of the Pope and Cheney genealogies, will publish about the middle of June a quarto volume of 550 pages containing a descriptive list of the men and women who settled in Massachusetts during the first half of the seventeenth century. Mr. Pope has drawn his information from original sources, having personally examined the colony, town, county, church and court records as far as now accessible within the territory covered. He has also canvassed the passenger lists, letters, journals and other contemporaneous documents. The arrangement is alphabetical, and under each name is given as far as found information as to the former home, kindred, social position, occupation, career, marriage, children, death and will of the settler. The price is now $10.00, strictly net and payable in advance. At an early date the price will be advanced to $12.00. Sample page and circular may be had of Mr. Pope at 221 Columbus Ave., Boston.

Jameson Genealogy. Rev. E. O. Jameson, (49 Hancock Street, Boston) compiler of the Cogswell and Choate genealogies and of the histories of Medway, has in press a genealogy of the Jameson Family which will be ready for delivery to subscribers in the autumn of this year. The price to advance subscribers is $5.00. The price will be advanced to $7.00 after publication.

Brewster Memorial. A number of the descendants of Elder William Brewster have formed themselves into a committee for the "purpose of collecting from the descendants of Elder William Brewster, subscriptions towards a fund for the erection, in the near future, of a memorial unto their common ancestor; which memorial shall be an Hospital known as 'The Elder Brewster Memorial Hospital,' or such other form of memorial as may be hereafter substituted by the subscribers to the fund, and shall in dignity of design and execution do justice to the object in view." All interested in this memorial are invited to gather in Plymouth, Sept. 6, 1900, when the Society of Mayflower Descendants holds its Congress. Subscriptions will be acknowledged by the Treasurer of the Committee, Mrs. Margaret Lennig Oglesby, "Sandown," Sea Girt, N. J.

THE OWL is the title of one of the newest of genealogical periodicals. It is edited by Mr. George Dikeman Wing, the twelve year old son of Judge George W. Wing of Kewaunee, Wisconsin. The first number was published in September, 1899, and it "hoots monthly for fifty cents a year." The "hooting" is largely about western branches of early New England families, among whom may be mentioned the Wings, Sweets, Gales, Benjamins, Sprague and Hoyts as receiving special attention in the numbers thus far published.

QUERIES.

A charge of one cent per word is made for the insertion of queries, and a year's subscription to THE ADVERTISER will be given for the first correct answer to each query. Queries which could easily be answered by using well known genealogical books will not be accepted.

ANSWER TO QUERY.

25. Mary, not Mercy, wife of Peter Worden, died at Yarmouth, May, 1687. Dennis was not set off till a hundred years later. Worden Family Record by O. N. Worden, 1868, thinks she was a Sears or Winslow. She certainly was not a Sears. Freeman's Hist. Cape Cod, II. 764, says "Kenelm Winslow, Jr., married his cousin, Mercy Worden," and this indicates a previous Winslow and Worden marriage. Mary Worden's will is recorded at Barnstable. A search of Winslow records might settle the connection.

UNITED STATES DIRECT TAX, 1798.

TWENTY-THIRD DISTRICT OF THE FIRST DIVISION OF MASSACHUSETTS.

COMMUNICATED BY FRANK ERNEST WOODWARD, MALDEN, MASS.

IN 1798 The Congress imposed upon the people of the United States a direct tax of two million dollars, which amount was apportioned to the several States. The State of Massachusetts, then including Maine, was assessed as her share two hundred and sixty thousand, four hundred and thirty-five dollars. For purposes of taxation the State was divided into districts under the direction of the Collectors of Internal Revenue. The returns were deposited in the Boston Custom-house where they remained in obscurity till about the year 1855, when, with the approval of the Collector, they were transferred to the custody of the New England Historic Genealogical Society where they are still preserved.

These returns are of great value to the genealogist. The list published below contains the names of all heads of families who in 1798 were living in the towns of Bristol, Waldoborough, Nobleborough, and Medumcook (Friendship), Me., as well as all who owned lands. The assessors prepared two schedules, the first containing a list of all owners of dwelling houses which with a house lot of one-quarter of an acre exceeded in value one hundred dollars; the second included all owners of dwelling houses of less value than one hundred dollars, and all owners of land within the district embraced by these four towns.

These two lists have here been combined into one. The first column represents the number of dwelling houses; the second their value; the third, the number of acres of land owned not including house lots, and the fourth their value.

BOOK NOTES.

James Parshall and His Descendants Compiled from the most authentic records. By James C. Parshall, Esq., Counsellor at Law, Author of The Barker Genealogy, etc. Syracuse. Privately Printed. 1900. 8vo, pp. 38. Price, $1.00.

The chief purpose of the compiler in publishing this pamphlet is to awaken among the descendants of James Parshall, who settled in Southold, L. I. in the latter part of the seventeenth century, an interest in a more complete genealogy which he intends to compile and publish. This method of interesting a family in a proposed genealogy dates back to the early days of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, when the custom was established of printing a brief genealogy of the early generations of a family in that periodical and reprinting the same in pamphlet form, a custom happily maintained to the present time. Mr. Parshall has arranged this genealogy on a modified form of the Register plan, which would have been improved if he had used arabic numerals to designate such individuals as appear in the next generation as heads of families. Mr. Parshall's work gives ample evidence of his ability to write an adequate genealogy of his family and he is entitled to the hearty coöperation of the other descendants in his undertaking.

Family Records of some of the Descendants of Robert Francis of Wethersfield, Conn. Compiled by Carrie E. Chatfield, Minneapolis, Minn. April, 1900. 8vo, pp. 24.

Mrs. Chatfield has made accessible and preserved in a permanent form a record of the descendants of Robert Francis of Wethersfield, Conn., in a single line to the fourth generation, and in various lines from the fifth to the ninth generations. The arrangement of the genealogical data is excellent. Doubtless some interesting information concerning the earlier generations might have been added from the registries of probate and deeds, had these been accessible to the compiler. By frequent references to the source from which her materials are drawn, the compiler reveals her appreciation of the value of giving authorities for statements in modern genealogical work.

Family Records. Lamb, Savory, Harriman. Collected and Compiled by Fred W. Lamb, A Descendant. 1900.

In this pamphlet are traced some of the descendants for six generations of Isaac Lamb who settled in New London, Conn., about 1695, of Robert Savory of Newbury, Mass., for seven generations, and of Leonard Harriman of Rowley, Mass., for six generations. The Lamb family records were drawn largely from a manuscript record of the late Rev. Joseph A. Lamb of Mystic, Conn., the Savory in part from Judge Savary's history of that family, and the Harrimans from Fullonton's history of Raymond, N. H., supplemented by the work of the compiler.

Greenwood Colonial and Revolutionary Services. 1695–1783. By Isaac J. Greenwood. Boston, 1899. Oblong 12mo, pp. 11.

This record of military services is tabulated from extensive notes collected some thirty-five years ago by the compiler. It contains the Colonial services in the French and Indian wars from 1650 to 1775 of the descendants of Nathaniel and Samuel Greenwood of Boston and Thomas Greenwood of Newton in one table, and their Revolutionary services in another. The name of each soldier is followed by his line of descent, his residence, rank, service, duration of service, and the names of the captain and colonel under whom he served. ***

BIOGRAPHY OF

REV. DAVID AND ELIZABETH (PRESCOTT) HALL.

BY EDITH G. L. PECKER, OF BOSTON.

DAVID[4] HALL, born in the historic town of Yarmouth, Mass., August 6 (Old Style), 1704, was the fourth son of Joseph and Hannah (Miller) Hall. He was great-grandson of John[1] Hall of Yarmouth, who perhaps had formerly lived in Charlestown, and who died at Yarmouth, July 23, 1696.

John[2] Hall, Jr., son of the immigrant, had wife Priscilla, who died at Yarmouth, March 30, 1712, aged 68. She was probably Priscilla Bearse, daughter of Augustine Bearse of Barnstable, and born March 10, 1643/4. John Hall was a deacon of the church at Yarmouth and died there October 14, 1710. His gravestone and that of his wife are in the old graveyard at Dennis.

His son, Joseph[3] Hall (father of David[4]), born at Yarmouth, Sept. 29, 1663, settled on his father's farm, and like him was a deacon of the church. He married first, February 12, 1690, Hannah, daughter of John and Margaret (Winslow) Miller, who was born at Yarmouth, April 19, 1666, and died August 23, 1710; he married, second, Mary (Faunce) Morton, who died May 31, 1761, aged 80. Joseph Hall held the office of selectman 28 years, commencing in 1701, was chosen representative in 1715 and '16, and in 1716 was on a committee to see about building a new meeting house.

David[4] Hall, the subject of this sketch, was graduated from Harvard College in 1724, and received the degree of A. M. in course. In 1777, Dartmouth College conferred upon him the honorary degree of D. D. Thus blessed with a good education and naturally of a religious temperament, he was well fitted for the vocation which he had chosen — the ministry — and his "Diary," of which, through the courtesy of Dr. Samuel A. Green, Librarian of the Massachusetts Historical Society, I have made a careful perusal, testifies that he was eloquent.

The people of Sutton, Mass., were not slow to appreciate this, for after having invited him to supply, for a few months, the place of their former pastor, Rev. John McKinstry, whom they had dismissed in 1728, they "voted that thar should bee a town meeting caled in order to give mr David Hall a call to Settel in the ministeral office in Sutton."* This important town meeting was held March 26, 1729, when the town concurred with the church in giving Mr. Hall a call, and also voted that he should have a "Salery of one Hundred Per year in Province Bills, or the Equal value of one Hundred Pounds per year of Province Bills as they are now valued, as long as he shall serve them in the work of the ministry". It was also agreed to "Leace out to mr David Hall part of the Ministeral Land — to wit — one thirty acre lot number 18, and one Seventy acre for Nine Hundred and Ninety nine Years at Six Pence Per year for Incouragement or towards his Setelment, and also to Give him one hundred Pounds in work, Meterals for Building".* To their request he sent a characteristic reply of acceptance, dated July 15, 1729, and on October 15 of that year, he was duly ordained pastor of the first Congregational church of Sutton, and remained such the rest of his life.

Soon after, June 24, 1731, he was married to Elizabeth, daughter of Dr. Jonathan and Rebecca (Bulkeley) Prescott, of Concord.

The church at his settlement consisted of only forty-nine members, but in fifteen years, two hundred and sixty-one were added by his ardent labors, nor did he confine himself to Sutton alone, but included many towns from Boston to Cape Cod. His success is best shown by his own statements: "April 26th 1741 * * * ye fabath before this I obſerved almoſt ye whole aſſembly in tears at ye ſame time. ſo mighty came ye word of ye Lord uppon them". "Sept. ye 4th went this weak to concord preacht a lecture appointed while there. * * * both men & women came with tears and beſought my Inſtruction & prayers". This occurred at Springfield and elsewhere.

He was the friend and admirer of Jonathan Edwards, and was a member of the Ecclesiastical Council, called in 1750, to confer upon the differences which had arisen between Dr. Edwards and his church. Dr. Hall gives a spirited account of this affair in his "Diary", and there records his protest against the dismissal of Dr. Edwards.

Dr. Hall, himself, had much difficulty with his people, not only with the so-called "Separating Brethren" and other seceders from the church, but also in the matter of his salary, which, by the variation in the value of currency, was a source of much dispute, and on several occasions the church and pastor came to an agreement by arbitration.

He was a faithful worker to the day of his death, not only among his own flock but wherever he went. He cheered the afflicted and was constantly by the bedside of the dying, often visited ten or twelve families a week, and would go miles to catechise the little ones for whom he had an unusual fondness.

It is said that Dr. Hall gave the common and burying-ground to the town.† Nov. 2, 1751, he writes, "I have of Late given one Hundred Pounds old Tenor towards building a meeting Houſe". In 1782, he sent as a present to Dartmouth College "ſix Folio Zanchies Works 2 large folios John Calvins Expſ" on Daniel with the Hebrew & Latin text. Martin Buker's Exposition on Romans Theodore Bezaes Theological Treatice againſt Papel Errors: & a Large volume of Robert Bellermine in defence of Papel Errors all in Lattin".

* Sutton Town Records. † History of Sutton.

In spite of his real success in the ministry, this pious man was much discouraged by the results of his endeavors, and although constantly fasting for the benefit of his soul, often felt that he had "lost y^e^ end of Gods cord of love". Aug. 17^th^ 1759, with charming quaintness, he summarizes as follows — "This Day I was Born. 55 years are the Days of y^e^ years of my life. few and Evil have they been! They are paſſed Like a tale that is told. and as a watch in the night! God has given me four ſons and ſeven Daughters by the wife of my youth: 3 Grandsons & 1 grand Daughter have I alſo." Not only was he an ideal pastor, but a kind and loving husband and father as well.

His views were unusually broad, and he was deeply interested in all matters concerning his own country and those across the seas, recording minutely many facts and rumors of interest. Naturally his writings were of this nature and he was often requested to publish them, yet so far as we know, only two sermons * did he allow to be printed.

Thus lived this sturdy New England Puritan, an important factor in the growth of the little community and in the lives of the people, making the church the social, political and religious centre of the town.

He died May 8, 1789, and was buried in the old Sutton graveyard, where his grateful people erected a monument to his memory.

Elizabeth, wife of Rev. David Hall, born "Decem^r^ y^e^ 2 day: 1713",† was the daughter of Dr. Jonathan and Rebecca (Bulkeley) Prescott of Concord. Dr. Jonathan[3] Prescott was born April 5, 1677, and married July 9, 1701, Rebecca, daughter of Hon. Peter and Rebecca (Wheeler) Bulkeley of Concord, who was born "24. 6. 81".* Jonathan settled in Concord, Mass., where he was successful as a physician and skillful surgeon. He died October 28, 1729, greatly lamented. He was son of Capt. Jonathan[2] Prescott by his second wife Elizabeth Hoar. Capt. Jonathan, born perhaps at Watertown, settled in Lancaster where he married first, Aug. 3, 1670, Dorothy ———, who was the mother of three children. After her death, he removed to Concord and there married Dec. 23, 1675, Elizabeth, daughter of John Hoar, Esq., a lawyer of Concord, and granddaughter of Charles Hoar, Jr., of Gloucester, England.‡ She died Sept. 25, 1687, and on Dec. 18, 1689, he married third, Rebecca, widow of Hon. Peter Bulkeley and daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Goldston) [Merriam]† Wheeler. After her death, he married his fourth wife, Aug. 18, 1718, Ruth Brown, who survived him and died Feb. 9, 1740. He was a farmer and a man of ability, representing the town of Concord in the General Assembly from 1692–95 and '97–99 inclusive, and in 1712 and '13. He was also captain in the militia, and his house was fortified as a garrison-house in 1676. He died Dec. 5, 1721. His father was John[1] Prescott who was one of the very first settlers of Lancaster, Mass.

A descendant of a line of honest and intelligent people, it is not surprising that Elizabeth should partake of those sterling qualities, which fitted her so well for the duties of a minister's wife. She was loving and entered sympathetically into her husband's plans. He often mentions his "dear wife" as accompanying him on his trips to Boston and elsewhere. She was also a faithful mother, constantly working for the temporal needs of her growing family, by no means an easy task; their spiritual condition too, caused her much anxiety. She did not relinquish her labors when they were older and married, but visited them as frequently as possible, and often gathered them all back into the old homestead. When her eldest son's wife died, she took the motherless little one to her home to love and cherish, and made it the home again, for the time being, for the sorrowing husband. Perhaps after all, the best description and the highest praise I could give is that she was a true type of the New England mother. She died Aug. 7, 1803, and was also buried in the old Sutton cemetery. The children of Rev. David and Elizabeth Hall were:—

i. David, b. May 5, 1732; m. (1) Sept. 11, 1755, Mary Barrett, who died at Pomfret, Conn., April, 1767, m. (2) Olive Smead; removed to Windsor, Vt.; d. in Hartland, Vt.

H., in March, 1897, under the direction of the late Mr. Dudley Tappan Chase. The original portraits were painted in December, 1780.

PLYMOUTH COUNTY MARRIAGES.

The publication of the Plymouth County Marriages in this magazine will be suspended for the present. These records were begun in the March number of 1898, seven installments having appeared covering the years 1692 to 1746, and great care has been exercised in giving an accurate and literal transcript of the originals at Plymouth. The publication of the balance of these marriages, covering the years 1747 to 1788, has been forestalled by the Rev. Frederic W. Bailey of New Haven, who has recently issued a volume containing these later records and a part of those already published in the Advertiser. It is not the mission of the Advertiser to republish what has appeared elsewhere in print, even though the work be as poorly done as in this case, while so many of our early records remain unprinted.

The student of Pilgrim genealogy will find literal transcripts of the marriage records during the Colony period printed in the Plymouth Colony Records, the larger part appearing in the eighth volume. From the end of the Colony period to 1746, the marriages for the County are found in the first and second volumes of the Advertiser, also in a reprint from the same which contains the marriages only, and, which may be had of the publisher at fifty cents per copy. After 1746, Mr. Bailey's book will serve as a guide to the marriages before 1788.

The marriages from an entire volume of the Court records — an unnumbered one — covering the years 1723 to 1737 are omitted from Mr. Bailey's volume. A few scattering marriages are also omitted, and a number of slips like Derrow and Deirow for Decrow appear in his work.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The vital records of two more towns (Rochester and Freetown, Mass.) will be commenced in the March and June numbers of the Advertiser for next year. These, with those already in progress, will enable the editor to give a variety wide enough to make this magazine almost indispensable to all interested in Old Colony families, as well as continue the policy of devoting a larger proportion of its space to vital records than is done by any other magazine in America.

BOOK NOTES.

Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of Illinois. Publication Number One. [Edited by Tyler Seymour Morris.] Nineteen hundred. 8vo, pp. 173.

This volume in the originality of its arrangement and in the quality of its illustrations, binding and paper, has those peculiar excellences that mark the former works of Mr. Morris. The larger part of the book is devoted to full page tabular pedigrees, each of which illustrates the descent of some member of the society from a Mayflower Pilgrim. These pedigrees give the full dates of birth, marriage and death, and in footnotes the authorities are given. This publication of detailed lines of eligibility is commendable, yet it may bring to grief, through the work of some zealous critic, some of these claimants to Mayflower honor. Coincidences of names, localities, and occupations, with other circumstantial evidence, which sometimes lead even the most cautious searcher to wrong conclusions, make it hazardous to give publicity to the lines of descent upon which membership in the patriotic hereditary societies depend. The genealogical data in this book, having been accepted by the historians of this organization, will be of great value to aspirants for membership in the Society of Mayflower Descendants in filling out the early generations on their application papers.

Besides the tables of descent, this book contains a brief history of the Illinois Society, with its constitution, by-laws, officers and members; "The Compact" and its signers, numbered as in Prince's New England Chronology, and illustrated by a facsimile of Bradford's copy; Gov. Bradford's two lists of those who came over first in 1620 and their families, illustrated by a facsimile of one page of the original; addresses of Walter Morton Howland, Dr. James Nevins Hyde, and Prof. Victor C. Alderson before the Illinois Society; and a list of reference books relating to Pilgrim history and genealogy.

The other illustrations are, portraits of Walter Morton Howland, Governor of the Society and Gov. Edward Winslow; views of "The first Pilgrim Spring", the Manor Houses and the Churches at Scrooby, and at Austerfield, the Standish House and the Standish Monument at Duxbury, "Corn Hill at Truro" and the Pabodie House at Little Compton; and facsimiles of the first page of Bradford's History and of the wills of Mary (Chilton) Winslow and Peregrine White.

An index completes this useful, attractive and substantial volume.

Book A. Records of the Town of Swansea. 1662 to 1705. Edited by Alverdo Hayward Mason. East Braintree, Mass. 1900. 4to. pp. 82. Price $1.25.

Mr. Mason has made accessible, and preserved from further loss, what remains of the vital statistics in the first volume, commonly known as "Book A", of the records of the town of Swansea, Massachusetts. More than this, he has reproduced, as nearly as type permits, the original volume, line for line. This careful preservation of the arrangement has a special value to the critical student, who does not have access to the original, which may be shown by the study of a single birth — that of Hannah Bosworth — recorded in this volume.

"Hanna the daughter of Jonathan Bosworth was born on the 5t of November 1663" the record reads at Swansea, but the town clerk's return at Plymouth, while agreeing with the day and month, differs ten years in the year, making the date 1673. The copy of Swansea records returned to Plymouth for the year 1673, signed by John Myles, Junir, Towne Clarke, (printed in Plymouth Colony Records, vol. 8, p. 48) is headed "A List of such Marriages, Beirthes, and Burialls, as were brought into the Towne Clarke of Swansey, to be recorded, from the 27th of February, 1672, to this prsent February the 27, 1673". In favor of 1673 being the year of Hannah Bosworth's birth we have the very strong evidence of this original copy, giving that date, signed by the town clerk and made out at the end of the year in question. Book A of the Swansea records, because of its peculiar alphabetical arrangement under Christian names, has been generally regarded as a compilation from earlier records, and hence less likely to be correct than the return at Plymouth.

A minute examination of the arrangement of the records in Mr. Mason's book reveals the fact that the entries of births after the latter part of 1673 appear, with few exceptions, in chronological order, while they do not before that date. This suggests that John Myles, Jr., who was then town clerk, began during the year 1673, this peculiar arrangement which has been supposed to be a compilation, and that this is his original record, and consequently equal to the copy at Plymouth as an authority. This suggestion becomes almost an absolutely certainty by the discovery that he and his successor, Nicholas Tanner, were the only clerks whose returns at Plymouth are arranged alphabetically under the Christian names. Admitting that John Myles, Jr., is the authority for both dates, the question as to the date of Hannah Bosworth's birth is easily settled by outside evidence.

In view of the fact that Jonathan Bosworth had a child (Jabez) born February 14, 1673, whose birth is omitted from the record at Plymouth, it is reasonable to suppose that Mr. Myles, in making up that return, carelessly copied the birth of Hannah instead of Jabez as the child born that year. It is worth noticing that the same item follows the birth of Hannah in both records, also that the birth of Jabez is only three months and nine days later than the date given in the return at Plymouth for Hannah's birth. This latter fact alone is sufficient to show where the error is. There is no record of the settlement of Jonathan Bosworth's estate.

According to the Swansea records, Hannah Bosworth married Nathaniel Jenks November 4, 1686. As no other Hannah Bosworth has yet been found, who could have married Nathaniel Jenks on that date, we have also the evidence of marriageable age in favor of the earlier date of birth.

Those descendants of Nathaniel Jenks who have patiently tried to solve the riddle of these conflicting dates in the hope of finding a Mayflower ancestor through Hannah Howland, mother of Hannah Bosworth, are indebted to Mr. Mason for the very valuable service rendered towards discrediting this particular record at Plymouth by the publication of these records in their original arrangement.

Every genealogist who has occasion to consult this book will be indebted to Mr. Mason for the painstaking care bestowed upon it. * * *

Francis, Goodrich, Boardman. (Mainly reprinted from the Boardman Genealogy). By William F. J. Boardman, a descendant in the Boardman–Francis–Goodrich Lines. For private circulation. Illustrations added. Hartford, 1898. 8vo, pp. 11.

This neatly printed pamphlet shows the compiler's lines of descent from Robert Francis and Ensign William Goodrich of Wethersfield, Conn. The illustrations are portraits of Daniel Francis (1770–1837), Capt. Elizur Goodrich (1730–1785), Mrs. Mary (Francis) Boardman (1803–1884), and William Boardman (1805–1887).

A Memoir of Daniel Hovey. Prepared for the Hovey Reunion, at Ipswich, Mass., August 21, 1900. By Rev. Horace Carter Hovey, D. D., of Newburyport, Mass. 8vo, pp. 11.

In this memoir Dr. Hovey has presented in an interesting manner the information relating to his ancestor brought to light by an extended study of the early records. The will of the founder of this family is printed in full and is signed "Daniel Hovey, sen'r, aged 73, and going into my 74 this 21 of March, 1691–2."

QUERIES.

A charge of one cent per word is made for the insertion of queries, and a year's subscription to THE ADVERTISER will be given for the first correct answer to each query. Queries which could easily be answered by using well known genealogical books will not be accepted.

117. Ancestry of David Hardon or Haraden. In his Harding Family (Vol. IV. Genealogical Register of Ancient Puritans), Morse states that David Hardon 1715–1792, of Norton and Mansfield, was eldest son of Edward[3] Haraden (Edward[2] Edward[1]) of Gloucester, and born presumably at Gloucester in 1715, since Edward[3] was married there January 13, 1713, and had children there whose births are recorded beginning 1718, among whom was William[4], born December 3, 1721, who married Sept. 10, 1750, Abigail Gray at Norton. Is there any proof that David was the son of Edward[3] and brother of William[4]? H. W. H.

THE ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF GOVERNOR THOMAS MAYHEW.

BY CHARLES EDWARD BANKS, M. D.

In connection with the work on which I am engaged, the History of Martha's Vineyard, it became one of the interesting objects of inquiry on my part to ascertain the antecedents of the Mayhew family of this country, whose ancestor Thomas, an early settler of Watertown, became proprietor, and afterwards Governor, of Martha's Vineyard, and who is the progenitor of all of the name on this side of the water. In the spring of 1898, I had occasion to make a trip to England, and while there the opportunity came for me to pursue the subject to a satisfactory conclusion.

In the Records of the Commissioners for the United Colonies, there appeared a letter, now in the Connecticut Archives, written by Governor Mayhew, sealed with arms which upon examination proved to be the arms, with a mullet for difference, of the Mayhew family of Dinton, Wiltshire, a county family of considerable distinction, whose pedigree is recorded in the Harleian manuscripts, Nos. 1181, 1443, deposited at the British Museum, which I examined, and also appeared in print in Hoare's Wiltshire, IV, 102, V (addenda), 66. These facts taken in connection with the bestowal by Mayhew of the names of Tisbury and Chilmark on two adjoining towns on Martha's Vineyard, (the latter settlement having been originally chartered as Tisbury Manor), and the fact that Tisbury and Chilmark are adjoining towns in Wiltshire, and separated by a few miles only from Dinton, made it quite evident that this locality was the one which should be investigated for his family connection. The Rev. Canon Charles H. Mayo, of Long Sherborne, Dorset, England, well known in connection with English genealogical matters, and as editor of Dorsetshire Notes and Queries, had published a book on the Mayo and Elton families, and in 1897, the year before I visited England, I had some correspondence with him concerning the Mayhew family. He generously gave me much information which he had collected since the publication of his book (1882) relative to scattered families bearing the name of Mayhew with its numerous variations, as Maoh, Mao, Maio, Maiow, Mahow, Mahu, Maihew, and so on, and I here acknowledge his agency in giving me what proved to be satisfactory clues in establishing the birthplace of Governor Mayhew.

In April, 1898, by previous appointment with the Vicar of Tisbury, the Rev. F. E. Hutchinson, who is of the same stock as one family of the New England Hutchinsons, and who knew of the special object of my visit, I was his guest for two days at the Vicarage and had ample time to make a thorough examination of the old parish registers of Tisbury, which are extant from the year 1563, including the original and a parchment copy of almost contemporary date. I give below extracts from the parish register, which include all of the name of Mayhew in its several variations, as well as some relating to persons connected with the family by marriage mentioned in wills, to be hereafter given, during the period necessary for my purpose.

EXTRACTS FROM THE PARISH REGISTER OF TISBURY, CO. WILTS.

BAPTISMS.

1583	Sept. 13, Henry, son of . . . . . Maoh.
1589	May 1, Elizabeth, daughter of Matthew Maho.
1591	Jan'y 17, John, son of Matthew Mayoo
1593	April 1, THOMAS, SON of MATHEW MAHO
1595/6	Feb. 8, Jone, daughter of Mathew Mayhoe
1598	Dec. 18, Alice, daughter of Mathew Maiho
1599/1600	Mar. 15, Katherine, daughter of Mathew Maio
1602	April 14, Edward, son of Mathew Mayhow.

MARRIAGES.

1573	Nov. 24, Myhell May and Jone Vanner
1575	April 21, Thomas (Maow?) and Alyce (Waterman?)
1578	Nov. 23, An Maio and Thomas Turner
1579	Aug. 3, An Maio and John Waterman
1587	Octo. 2, MATHEW MAOW and ALES BARTER.

BURIALS.

1586	July 14, Ales wyffe of Thomas Maow
1590	June 1, Thomas Maow.

The marriage above indicated by capitals is that of the parents of Governor Thomas Mayhew, and his baptism is likewise printed in the same. Attention need scarcely be drawn to the various ways the name is entered in the register. In the baptisms given, eight in all, there are seven different spellings. Mayo is a form adopted by some families exclusively. This entry of the baptism of Thomas, son of Mathew Maho, April 1st, 1593, probably within a few days of his birth, is not absolutely conclusive evidence of identity with our Thomas, but taken in connection with the facts relating to the reappearance on Martha's Vineyard of the names of Tisbury Manor (which is situated in the parish of Tisbury, England,) and Chilmark the adjoining town, and the name of Matthew, which for succeeding generations appeared in the Martha's Vineyard family, it becomes one of those cases where an affirmative conclusion is clearly inferential.

Corroborative evidence is also available in respect to Governor Mayhew's age, which corresponds approximately with the record of this baptism. The double dating of that period from January 1st to March 25th enters the problem to give it some slight complications, but as he was born near the dividing line between the new and the old years 1592 and 1593, his several statements regarding the great number of years he attained (evidently a source of pride to him) lead us readily to conclude that with the proneness which he exhibited to reiterate his longevity, he unintentionally adopted 1592 as his birth year, when it was in reality 1593, and that a further source of error lies in the confusion which may result from such general statements as that he was 87 years of age, or in his "87th yeare hallf out." The following are all the references regarding his age which I have thus far observed, and it will be noticed that the first one, before he had grown to even riper years and indulged the pardonable satisfaction at attaining great age, is the only correct one as compared to the date of baptism. It bears out my theory that he unconsciously overstated his age as he grew older.

1. On September 15, 1664 he wrote, "I am 71 and 5 monthes at present."* This would carry his birth back to about 2–15–1593. [Within one month prior to April 15, 1593, which agrees with the baptism].

2. On 24 (6), 1678, he wrote, "It hath pleased God to keepe me alyue and verry well, to write thus much in my 87th yeare hallf out."† This would carry his birth back to about 12–24–1591. [Feb. 24, 1591–2.]

3. In his will dated June 16, 1681, he began: "I, Thomas Mayhew of Edgartown upon the Vineyard in this ninetieth year of my age." This would carry his birth back to some time between June 17, 1591, and June 16, 1592.

4. On April 13, 1682, Matthew Mayhew, his grandson, announced to Governor Thomas Hinckley of Plymouth the death of his grandfather as follows: "It pleased God of his great goodness as to continue my honoured grandfather's life to a great age, (wanting but six days of ninety years) so to give the comfort of his life, and to ours as well as his comfort, in his sickness (which was six days)."‡

† Plymouth Colony Records, vol. 10, p. 406.
‡ Mass. Hist. Coll., 4th series, vol. 5, p. 61.

The exact date of his death can be pretty closely fixed. He was alive March 24th, 1681/2 when he acknowledged a deed, and on March 28, following, his will was attested by a witness in court. In Experience Mayhew's "Indian Converts," p. 301, it is stated that he preached on the Sabbath before his death and fell ill that same evening and was sick six days. March 19th was Sunday in that year, and the six days of his illness would carry us to Saturday evening, March 25th, 1682, which is the probable day of his death. Subtracting 90 years less six days, his age as stated by Matthew, we are carried back to March 31, 1592 as the day of his birth, and allowing for his error of one year in his age, we have his birth falling on Saturday, March 31, 1593, the day prior to the record of baptism.

I had previously to my visit to Tisbury made a personal search of the Wiltshire wills deposited at Somerset House relating to the Archdeaconry of Sarum, in which the parishes of Tisbury, Chilmark and Dinton are situated. There I found, among others of the family, the wills of Matthew Mayhew, the father of Thomas, and of Agnes Mayhew, an aunt of Thomas, in both of which documents his name occurs as a beneficiary. The full copy of the will of Matthew is here presented: —

The will of Agnes Mayhew of Tisbury dated Jan'y 12, 1606, gives to "Thomas the son of my brother Matthew, five pounds," and it was proved June 24, 1612 (Arch. Sarum viii. 168.)

With respect to the connection of this Tisbury twig with the armorial family of Dinton, it is to be observed that Matthew describes himself as "yeoman," which may not disqualify him as a cadet scion of the armigerous family, particularly in view of the fact that Governor Mayhew, his son, used a seal, which he must have obtained in England, cut with the arms of the Dinton family, and having as a mark of difference the mullet, indicating that he was descended from the third son of the armorial grantee.* In all of the many wills that I was able to consult and copy under the vexatious restrictions of the search room at Somerset House, I could not however place Matthew, the father of Thomas. The tabular pedigree which appears herewith, showing the Dinton family as given in the Harleian manuscripts and in Hoare's Wiltshire, to which I have added some facts obtained from wills and other original sources, fails to afford us any information concerning the descendants of Thomas, the third son of Robert Mayhew, and I suspect that it is to him, whose Christian name Governor Mayhew bears, we must look for an extension of the pedigree. I hope some future investigator will be able to clear this matter up. The laws of primogeniture, which existed at that period, and which were so carefully observed by the heralds, afforded little consideration for cadet branches of county families, and we are at present reduced to conjecture as to the relationship of Matthew to the Dinton stock, a conclusion which seems reasonable to be made in the affirmative from all the collateral facts. It is to be observed that the name of Simon Mayhew, which appears at the head of the tabular pedigree, was used by the Martha's Vineyard family as early as 1687, which may be classed as additional corroborative testimony.

As of possible collateral interest it may be noted that John and Edward Bracher, (Brasier, Brazier) overseers of the will of Matthew Mayhew, are names found later in Charlestown and Watertown whither Thomas Mayhew emigrated. It is to be further noted that Thomas Mayhew, according to Gookin, was a merchant bred in England "as I take it at Southampton" (1 Mass. Hist. Coll. I, 201) and the records of the Massachusetts Bay Company contain entries of the purchase of supplies from a "Mr. Maio" in 1628. (Mass. Col. Rec. I, 35.) Southampton is about 25 miles from Tisbury.

I have abstracts of the parish registers of Dinton, which date from 1558, containing all entries relating to Mayhew prior to 1600, but there is no reference to the Tisbury family, nor to the line of Thomas, the third son of Robert of Dinton in the pedigree. By the kindness of Canon Mayo I was subsequently furnished with extracts from registers of several of the contiguous parishes in Wiltshire, covering entries of baptisms, marriages, and burials during the period under search, but no reference to a Matthew Mayhew appears. Unfortunately the parish registers of Chilmark are missing prior to 1653, and unless Bishops' transcripts exist in the Diocesan Registry at the Salisbury Cathedral, "Our Lady Church of Sarum," or are on deposit at Somerset House, an important source of information is unavailable. I was not able, for lack of time, to pursue this line of investigation. A branch of the Dinton family, represented by Walter, the fourth son of Robert of Dinton, lived in Chilmark, which is the next parish to Tisbury and nearer Dinton. Walter Mayhew "de Chilmark, gentleman" made his will 30 August, 1604, which was proven 24 December, 1606, and in it he makes a bequest to the poor of Fountell (Fonthill) where his elder brother Edward resided. No references to Tisbury or relatives outside of his family appear (Arch. Sarum, Rotula XV). John Mayhew of Dinton, however, the eldest son of that generation, in his will dated 20 September, 1562, bequeaths a small sum "to the Church of Tisbury", besides to his own church and the Cathedral at Salisbury (Arch. Sarum. IV, 165) which may be taken as showing some interest or connection with that parish. There were other families named Mayhew living in North Wiltshire, as at Broughton Gifford, Melksham and Potterne, and still others at Shaftesbury and Berwick S. John. I have wills of some members of these various families, but no connection is apparent between them and the Dinton-Chilmark-Tisbury family whose pedigree is shown.

All the evidence adduced, by inference and exclusion, seems to favor the Tisbury family as the one to which Governor Mayhew belongs, and that the Tisbury branch belongs to the Dinton stock seems equally presumptive. The line of Matthew's parentage probably sprung off before the Dinton stock had their pedigree registered in 1565, and it is also fair to presume that Simon, who heads it, had more than one son. With the exception of Matthew many of the names of sons in the Tisbury and Dinton families are nearly identical, John, Thomas, Henry, Edward. It is not clear who the Thomas Maow was who died in Tisbury, June 1, 1590, twenty-four years, nearly a generation, before Matthew. He could have been the father of Matthew and the Thomas of the pedigree of whom nothing further has yet come to light. And the "Ales" who was buried in 1586 may have been the "Alyce" who married Thomas in 1575, perhaps as second wife.

The Mayhews of Dinton were Roman Catholics, and according to a recent authority had in those days suffered for their attachment to that faith. An Edward, born at Dinton, 1570, became a Benedictine monk, and with his brother Henry was admitted to the English College at Douay in 1583, and later they matriculated at the English College, Rome, 1590 (Stephen, Dict. Nat. Biog. Art. Maihew). He died in 1625. It is probable that he was the son of Henry, and was baptized at Dinton 12 Nov., 1571. In those days of religious ostracism and persecution, when the Puritan movement was growing in strength, it is possible that the branch to which Governor Mayhew belonged became Protestant, and thus lost association with and recognition by the parent stock.

I may say, in conclusion, that a visit which I made to the adjoining parish of Chilmark, disclosed some early Macy stones in the churchyard. It will be remembered that Thomas Macy of Nantucket, who is said to have been of Chilmark, referred to Thomas Mayhew of Martha's Vineyard as "my honored cousin" (N. Y. Col.

MSS., Vol. XXV), and while searching for Mayhew wills I accidentally found the will of Thomas Maycie of Chilmark, dated 1575, which may serve as the basis for some future investigations concerning that well-known family, whose emigrant ancestor first settled in Salisbury, Massachusetts.

The general interest in the ancestry of Governor Mayhew prompts me to anticipate the publication of these researches, made primarily for my history of the Vineyard, by presenting a small part for the benefit of his many descendants. Much that I collected bearing on earlier generations of the family must be omitted, but I may add that I quite satisfactorily investigated the pedigree of Alice Barter, the mother of the Governor, which I reserve for future use.

Note.— The accompanying illustrations are the arms of the Mayow family of Dinton, and the seal used by Gov. Thomas Mayhew. In the Mayow arms, I have had sea mews engraved for the birds, which in the authorities quoted are given as "birds." Hoare's Wiltshire gives doves. It will be noticed that the arms described on the tabular pedigree have a crescent for difference, indicating their use at the time of the visitation (1565) by a second son, probably Edward, son of Robert. Edward's younger brother, Thomas, would have used the mullet for difference. The use of the mullet by Gov. Thomas Mayhew, indicating his descent from a third son of the Mayow family of Dinton, taken with the other evidence presented by Dr. Banks, leads me to believe that the Thomas, who was buried at Tisbury in 1590, was father of Matthew, grandfather of Gov. Thomas, and son of Robert. An examination of the wills of allied families, especially those of the Bridmore family of Tisbury into which Robert Mayow married, may supply additional information about Thomas Mayow of Tisbury, and show a reason for his settling there.—Editor.

VINTON'S WEBB FAMILY.

SAMUEL WEBB,[5] (Christopher,[4] Christopher,[3] Christopher,[2] Christopher,[1]) eldest son of Christopher[4] and Anne (White) Webb of Braintree; born in Boston, Oct. 5, 1716; married Sarah Lincoln, 1740.

They lived in Braintree, but seem to have moved away; as no traces of them appear in that town after the birth of two children, viz:—

Samuel, born	Dec. 10, 1742.
Christopher, "	April 21, 1747.

The Samuel Webb who married Sarah Lincoln removed to Woolwich, Me., and died there August 27, 1773. Positive proof is wanted that Samuel Webb was a brother of Nathaniel Webb, who married Jane Blanchard and also removed from Braintree to Woolwich at about the same time that Samuel did.

Additional memoranda concerning this branch of the Webb family may be seen in Cushman's History of Ancient Sheepscot, Me., Patterson's Lincoln County Probate Records, Vinton's Giles Memorial, and ante vol. I, page 125.

BOOK NOTES.

Thomas Boyden and His Descendants Compiled by Wallace C. Boyden, A. M. Merrill N. Boyden Amos J. Boyden Boston Mass Privately printed 1900 (Press of T. R. Marvin & Son, Boston.) 8vo, pp. 268, with 4 photogravure portraits. Sent prepaid on receipt of $3.25.

In this work, which is the result of the combined labors of the compilers whose names appear on the title,—who, the preface tells us, were each engaged for some time in preparing the family history, unaware that anyone else was similarly employed,— we have a modest account of the descendants of the emigrant Thomas Boyden, who crossed the ocean from Ipswich, England, in 1634, and in May, 1635, joined the church at Scituate, Mass. His journeyings from place to place until he finally settled at Medfield, Mass., where he probably died, are given, with such facts concerning him as the compilers have been able to discover; then follows an account of above five hundred families of his descendants, while numerous others, generally those of the married daughters, are given when the name of the mother first appears. The record of Boydens who were Revolutionary soldiers, of whom the number is unusually large, and the stories of eminent inventors and other prominent descendants, are simply yet appreciatively given. A full and carefully prepared Index closes the volume. The mechanical execution is very creditable to the printers, whose experience in this class of work is well known. Only a limited edition was printed, and, for the present, copies can be obtained of Mr. Merrill N. Boyden, at the Old State House, Boston.

Historical Sketch of The Norfolk Conference of Unitarian and Other Christian Churches. Prepared for and read at the One Hundredth Session of the Conference, held at Randolph, June 12, 1900. With Brief Sketches of the Churches now Belonging to the Conference and Lists of their Ministers, to the Present Time. Illustrated. By George M. Bodge, Minister of First Parish in Westwood, and Secretary of the Conference. Printed for the Conference. 1900. 8vo, pp. 48.

Notwithstanding the omission of many deeply interesting matters, which the limitations of Mr. Bodge's time and space obliged him to ignore, he has furnished a narrative as instructive as it is pleasant, supplying all the information which would ordinarily be required by anyone interested in the work of the Norfolk Conference, whose results are described as being more important than can be estimated. The fine illustrations consist principally of pictures of the twenty-four churches to which are devoted the "brief sketches" mentioned on the title page.

Marriage Notices, 1785–1794, for the Whole United States. Copied from the Massachusetts Centinel and the Columbian Centinel. By Charles Knowles Bolton. Eben Putnam, Salem, Mass. 1900. 8vo, pp. 139. Price, $2.00.

We have here a reprint from Putnam's Historical Magazine, the publication of Mr. Bolton's "Notices" having been begun in the second volume of that periodical. The first number of the newspaper from which they are copied was issued at Boston, March 24, 1784, under the name of the "Massachusetts Centinel," which in 1790 was changed to that of the "Columbian Centinel." The phrase "for the whole United States," must not, of course, be supposed to imply that all the marriages which took place in the United States during ten years are here recorded, since the actual number of marriages copied is found by calculation to be only about eighteen hundred for the whole period, that is, about two hundred a year. The phrase should accordingly be interpreted as meaning that the marriages recorded took place within the limits of the United States. The arrangement is alphabetical, each marriage being twice entered, both under the name of the husband and of the wife. Of the three classes of marriages reported in the Centinel, viz, those of the wealthy, the famous, and the eccentric, those only of the first are considered by the compiler as being recorded with sufficient accuracy to be useful to the genealogist. Four pages of corrections and additions are found in the reprint, which had not previously been published.

State of Connecticut. Public Document No. 41. Report of the Commission of Public Records, 1900. Printed by Order of the Legislature. New Haven: The Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor Co. 1900. 8vo, pp. 15.

Following the copies of the inquiries sent to town clerks, judges of probate, pastors and clerks of churches, is an account of the replies received, many of them expressing much interest in the work of the Commission, the cases being few in which no response was made to the applications. In view of the object of the Commission, the suggestions offered at the close of the Report are of great importance.

The Seymour Family. By Tyler Seymour Morris. A Reprint from the Morris Genealogy. Chicago. 1900. 8vo, pp. 147–154, 180, 181.

This pamphlet gives the ancestors of Clara E. Seymour, daughter of Salmon Seymour and Clarissa Graves, as also the ancestry of Hon. Horatio Seymour, nominee for President by Democratic National Convention in 1868.

Biographical Sketch of Samuel Rowell, and Notices of some of his Descendants, with a Genealogy for Seven Generations, 1754–1898. By Roland Rowell, Manchester, N. H. Manchester, N. H.: Printed by William E. Moore. 1898. 8vo, pp. 216. Ill.

The subject of the biographical portion of this volume was a Revolutionary soldier and descendant of Thomas Rowell, the immigrant, to whom land was assigned at Salisbury, Mass., in 1639. Five hundred and thirty-three descendants of the patriot are here traced, and of over three hundred of these personal sketches are furnished. One hundred and fourteen surnames are found among the posterity of Samuel Rowell. The aim of the work does not include details regarding his ancestry, or any general account of the Rowell family in this country. The restricted design of the book, however, has been well accomplished, and the results of the compiler's labors are presented in a manner that renders them easily accessible to the reader. The illustrations are numerous. A single index includes all the names, that of Rowell occurring in its alphabetical order. ***

NOTES.

Seymour, Conn., Vital Statistics. An old volume of Trinity Church records having been found, containing entries of baptisms, marriages and burials, from 1834 to 1845, also a volume of records of the Congregational Church with list of baptisms from 1817 to 1843, these are now to be published, together with the registrar's list of births, marriages and deaths from date of last publication to Dec. 31, 1900, and with an additional list of births, marriages and deaths within the limits of the present town of Seymour, collected from original records by F. G. Bassett, historian of the Bassett family, the entries dating from 1791 to 1846. The whole is thoroughly indexed and will make a volume of about ninety pages and will be ready about April 1st. The price, in paper covers, will be $1.00, postage 4c.; in cloth, $1.25, postage 6c. Published by W. C. Sharpe, Seymour, Conn. x.

Jameson Genealogy. Rev. E. O. Jameson, compiler of the histories of Medway and the Cogswell and Choate genealogies, has just published a history of his own family together with other families of the same name, under the title of "The Jamesons in America." Besides the ordinary edition, which sells at $7.00, a special "Limited Royal Edition" is also published at $9.00. Copies may be obtained from Rev. E. O. Jameson, 567 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Barker, Pratt, Coombs, Wood. In The Mayflower Descendant, Vol. II, p. 128, is the following query; "Coombs. What was the maiden name, and the parentage of Mary, the second wife of Francis[2] Coombs (John[1])? They were married about 1678, and Mary married, second, about 1685, David Wood of Middleborough. She was living in 1711."

Mary was the daughter of John and Anna (Williams) Barker of Duxbury. She m. (1st) Samuel[2] Pratt, son of Phineas[1]; (2nd) Francis Coombs; (3rd) Mar. 5, 1684–5, David Wood.

In the will of her grandfather, John Williams of Scituate, dated Dec. 19, 1667, she is called Mary Barker. Her father, John Barker, died in 1652, and her mother married (2nd) Abraham Blish or Blush of Barnstable, and died in 1658. Division of the estate of John Barker was made June 9, 1653, of which the portions of the daughters Anna, Deborah and Mary, were to be paid them at 21 years of age, or six months after marriage. Accordingly, Abraham Blush settled with William Burden, husband of Deborah, Mar. 1, 1660, with John Pratt, husband of Ann, Oct. 27, 1666, and with Samuel Pratt, husband of Mary, Nov. 2, 1668, for their portions. Mary Barker, therefore, had married Samuel Pratt between Dec. 19, 1667, and Nov. 2, 1668.

The will of Capt. John Williams of Scituate, uncle of Mary, (ante, p. 25) makes minute mention of his relatives. He styles his nieces, the children of his sister Mary Dodson, and his deceased sister Anna, his kinswomen. He mentions his "kinswoman Mary now Wife of David Wood" as living at Middleborough, and in the codicil of his will refers to her "Children that she had by her husband Coombs." Using this will, and that of John[1] Williams, father of said Capt. John, as a basis, and charting out the descendants of John[1] Williams, one will see that Mary wife of David Wood, can be a "kinswoman" of Capt. John Williams, only as his niece, daughter of John and Anna (Williams) Barker. According to the settlement of John Barker's estate, Mary was the wife of Samuel Pratt in 1668, but reference to the genealogy of "Phineas Pratt and his Descendants," shows that Samuel[2] Pratt died Mar. 26, 1676, and at a later period, [probably 1690, see petition there recorded] his widow was Mary Wood, living at Middleborough.

The above mentioned John Pratt and wife Ann may be that John Pratt (with wife Ann) of Oyster Bay, Long Island, who is shown by Mr. Rodney Macdonough in The Mayflower Descendant, Jan. 1901, to have been a son of Phineas[1] Pratt.

NEW DATA RELATING TO THE FAMILY OF CAPT. EDWARD JOHNSON OF WOBURN,

AUTHOR OF THE "WONDER-WORKING PROVIDENCE OF SIONS SAVIOUR IN NEW-ENGLAND."

Volume I. of the "Maryland Calendar of Wills," compiled and edited by Jane Baldwin, and published this year by the Wm. J. C. Dulany Co. of Baltimore, contains several abstracts of interest to New England families. By far the most important among these is that of the will of George Johnson of Somerset Co., which follows:

Johnson, George, Somerset Co., 23rd Nov., 1680; 23rd Dec., 1681.

To eld. child of dau. Katharine, wife of John Goding, ½ of personalty at death of testator's wife.

" eld. child (unnamed) of brother John Johnson, of Woburn, New Eng., and to eld. child (unnamed) of cous. —— —— Prentiss, alias Johnson, certain property in Canterbury, Eng., equally.

" eld. child of brother William Johnson, of New Eng., property due testator from brother Edward Johnson, of New Eng., and certain property in Canterbury, Eng., left testator by father Edward Johnson, after decease of grandfather William Johnson.

" wife Katharine, "The Straights," "Garden's Pasture;" 300 A., "Johnston;" 200 A., "Discovery;" 50 A., "London's Gift;" 50 A., "London's Advisement;" 200 A., "Poplar Ridge;" 500 A., "Jones' Adventure," during life.

" young. child (unnamed) of George Wilson, "London's Gift" at death of wife afsd.

" eld. child (unnamed) of son George Johnson, ½ estate, in Maryland, real and personal, at death of sd. wife.

" Roger Woolford, Libing Denwood, Wm. Berry and Thos. Taylor, of Md., exs., residue of estate in trust for the poor of the Quaker faith.

Test: Jno. Heath, Thos. Price, Thos. Beauchamp. 2. 189.

From this abstract, it appears that George Johnson, son of Capt. Edward, did not return to England, as Savage, Boutelle and others supposed, but settled and died in Maryland. It also appears that Capt. Edward Johnson was the son of a William Johnson, who probably lived in the vicinity of Canterbury, England. While there are apparently some slight discrepancies (or errors) in the above quoted abstract, the identification of this George Johnson as the son of Capt. Edward of Woburn is established beyond a doubt, by the additional evidence found in Capt. Edward's will, which is printed in full, together with a genealogy of the family, in the Poole edition of the Wonder-Working Providence.

These facts were unknown to the historian of the Old South Church.

* Jonas[3] and Timothy[3] Green were sons of Samuel[2] (Bartholomew[1]), and Sarah (Clark) Green of Cambridge. Jonas was born Jan. 29, 1663–4 and was probably named for his grandfather, Elder Jonas Clark. His wife, Jane Pygan, was a daughter of Alexander and Judith (Redfin or Redfield) Pygan and was born Feb., 1670–1. Judith Redfin was a daughter of William and Rebecca Redfin of New London. Samuel Green, father of Jonas and Timothy, was the celebrated printer who conducted the Cambridge printing office for nearly half a century.

† Jane, daughter of Jonas and Jane (Pygan) Green, married Hugh Woodbury of Beverly, Mass., May 21, 1730, and settled in Falmouth, Me.

BOOK NOTES.

The Greene Family in England and America with Pedigrees. Boston Privately printed 1901. 8vo, pp. 148, 8 pedigrees, plate of arms in colors, and numerous half-tone portraits, etc.

Several accounts of the Greene Family have been printed at various times, giving with more or less completeness the descent of the American family from Robert of Gillingham, (Dorset), England. A probable connection with an elder branch of this family which resided at Greene's Norton, in the neighboring county of North Hants, has been claimed by some, though never fully established; the compiler of the volume under notice, in alluding to this tradition, has a brief account of that branch, and gives some of the grounds on which the tradition is based, with descriptions of the ancient churches and tombs of the family, illustrated by half-tones. The direct line of descent from "John Greene, surgeon," (who sailed for New England in the James, from Southampton, early in April, 1635,) to the late Benjamin Greene, of Boston, follows. To give the genealogy of his descendants, and especially of his youngest son, Gardiner Greene, of Boston, whose third wife was the daughter of the eminent artist Copley, is evidently the chief purpose of the volume. Copious extracts from English parish registers, reprints of early wills, and brief notes on allied families of the name, complete the work, which has a very full and carefully prepared index. Among the portraits are several reproductions from paintings by Copley, and a view of the mansion and garden of Mr. Gardiner Greene on Pemberton Hill. It is a work of more than ordinary local interest, as it gives very full statistics of numerous prominent Boston families, who were allied by marriage to the children of Gardiner Greene, and for those for whom it was more particularly intended it will be of permanent value. It is handsomely printed by T. R. Marvin & Son, of Boston. R.

Philip and Philippa. A Genealogical Romance of To-Day. By John Osborne Austin. 1901. 8vo, pp. 183. Price $2.00. For sale by the author, P. O. Box 81, Providence, R. I.

In the New England States, where ancestry hunting is widely indulged in, it is common for husband and wife to find that they are cousins of a remote degree, being descended from one or more ancestors common to both. This could scarcely be otherwise where all the ancestral lines on the part of both run back to the early days of the colonial period, so few were the early settlers and so many the ancestors of each in their combined paternal and maternal lines.

Mr. Austin, who has delved deeply into the original sources of Rhode Island family history, turns from his antiquarian labors, and weaves a romance upon as slight a thread as one of these distant relationships. Philip, the sole surviving descendant in the eighth generation of a New England immigrant, seeks in England his nearest relative, Philippa, a descendant of the twin brother of his own immigrant ancestor, who, likewise, is the last of her family. The story of his uneventful — no, all-eventful, since he falls in love with his eighth cousin and marries her — journey half way around the world and back, is told by Mr. Austin in a style peculiarly his own.

The Jamesons in America. 1647–1900. Genealogical Records and Memoranda. By E. O. Jameson, author of "The Cogswells in America," "The History of Medway, Mass.," "The Choates in America," Etc., Etc. Boston. 1901. 4to, pp. xvi+599. Price, cloth, $7.00. Leather, $9.00. For sale by Rev. E. O. Jameson, 31 Greenwich Park, Boston.

The compiler of this volume has gathered during the past forty years, considerable genealogical and historical data relating to nearly three thousand persons bearing the name Jameson and descended from various Scottish immigrant settlers in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

In the arrangement of the subject-matter and in all the mechanical details of book-making, this book is similar to the other genealogies by the same compiler. Many well selected illustrations, chiefly portraits, adorn the volume, and a fine index makes accessible its contents. Mr. Jameson's wide experience in the genealogical field, his untiring industry, and his facility in presenting in an interesting manner the dry facts of genealogy, make him an ideal family historian.

An Index to Taintor's Colchester (Conn.) Records. With Genealogical Matter Alphabetically Arranged for Easy Reference. Compiled by James Knox Blish, Kewanee, Illinois. 1901. 16mo, pp. 42.

This index was compiled "to enable the searcher to readily locate and utilize the historical and genealogical matter contained in Taintor's Records of Colchester, Connecticut." The genealogical records in Taintor's volume are here reprinted in alphabetical order, so that the original book need not be consulted for these records. All other names in the original volume are here indexed. This is a welcome addition to the local literature of Connecticut.

New York State Library Bulletin 56. February 1901. Bibliography of New York Colonial History. By Charles A. Flagg, B. A., B. L. S., and Judson T. Jennings. Albany. 1901. 8vo, pp. 289–558. Price, 35 cents.

This bibliography covers the history of New York as a colony and province from its discovery to 1776, excluding such territory as was formerly a part of New York but is now incorporated in other States. Certain classes of works are purposely omitted and a list of these is given in the preface. The work is compiled in a scholarly manner, and to the student of early New York history is an indispensable book of reference.

The Sheafe Family of Old and New England. By Walter Kendall Watkins, Malden, Mass. Printed for the Author. Boston. 1901. 8vo, pp. 14.

The veteran genealogist, Mr. Walter Kendall Watkins, has given in this pamphlet the result of personal investigations made in England during one of his recent visits. The text is reprinted from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, but the lithographic tabular pedigree appears in the pamphlet only. Errors made by some of the earlier investigators of the lines shown in the pedigree are here corrected.

Richard Warren of the Mayflower and Some of His Descendants. By Mrs. Washington A. Roebling, of Trenton, N. J. Boston. 1901. 8vo, pp. 39. Fifty copies printed.

This volume embraces a fairly complete genealogical record of five generations, in the male line, of the descendants of Richard Warren, the Mayflower Pilgrim. Some important corrections of the earlier genealogical accounts of this family are here made, and it is to be hoped that these errors will no longer be perpetuated by genealogical writers. The first twenty-three pages are reprinted from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, and the remaining pages, including a good index, here appear in print for the first time. The volume is neatly printed on heavy laid paper and is protected by an attractive red and white cloth binding.

Ancestral Chart of Eleven Generations. By Georgiana Guild, Genealogist for the Rhode Island Society of Colonial Dames. Providence. 1899. Oblong 8vo, pp. 92. Patent applied for. Price, $5.00. Working Chart to accompany the Ancestral Chart of Eleven Generations. Price, $2.00.

Since the middle of the last century, numerous blank forms for recording ancestry have been invented and placed upon the market, notable among which have been those designed by Shattuck, Whitmore, Cushing and Bowman. The earlier blanks were usually in bound volumes or in large single sheets, in which no provision was made for the correction of mistakes, except by erasure. Among the later forms, there are several which permit the correction of errors by substituting new pages for those spoiled. These blanks also allow of indefinite expansion by interleaving, thus providing the exact amount of space needed for notes and for lines which go back beyond the average number of generations. The expansive systems, because of their adaptability and greater convenience, must eventually displace the older methods.

Miss Guild's Ancestral Chart belongs to the expansive class, and the particular style of arrangement is the result of considerable study and experience in her work as Genealogist of the Rhode Island Society of Colonial Dames. The Ancestral Chart is beautifully printed on excellent paper, with provision for notes and an index, and is supplied with a set of preliminary working charts in which to gather the data before transferring to the final record. Copies may be secured from the compiler at 34 Pratt St., Providence, R. I.

A charge of one cent per word is made for the insertion of queries, and a year's subscription to THE ADVERTISER will be given for the first correct answer to each query. Queries which could easily be answered by using well known genealogical books will not be accepted.

"Weymouth Apl 23d 1816 Hond Uncle . . . with respect yours Benj. Derby. Mr Thomas Pratt North Yarmouth"

"Weymouth, Nov. 12, 1818, Mrs. Pratt . . . "the widow Abagail Pratt . . . died about the first of June last, & by her will she gave about one third of her household furniture to Thomas Pratt your late husband; . . . With high consideration Eliphalet Loud. The household furniture given to Mrs Derby, Mrs Porter, & Thomas Pratt to be equally divided."

The will of Thomas[4] Pratt of Weymouth, da. Mch. 5, pr. Apl. 19, 1765, (Suffolk Probate, LXIV, 242) mentions drs. Mary Pratt, Hannah White, Elizabeth Darby, Eunis Porter and Sarry Pratt, and sons Thomas Pratt and Benjamin Pratt. Wife Abigail executrix.

In "Matthew Pratt and his Descendants," p. 136, Thomas[5] Pratt is called "of Quincy," and married 1st to Mary Green, and 2nd to Sarah (Hubbard) Thayer. These extracts are sufficient to prove that he was Thomas Pratt of North Yarmouth. Ella G. S. Pease.

ROCHESTER, MASS., RECORDS.

The records here printed were transcribed from the first volume of Rochester town records. The margins of the pages containing the earlier records have been worn away by constant use, and to prevent further damage the volume has been interleaved with paper somewhat larger than the original. "Town of Rochester: jn new-Englan[torn] jn y^e^ year 1697" is written on the fly leaf, followed by a crude table of contents. Only the vital records, which are found scattered among miscellaneous matter, ear-marks, etc., have been copied, and the pages of the original are indicated in brackets.

BOOK NOTES.

Letters of Colonel Thomas Westbrook and others relative to Indian Affairs in Maine, 1722–1726. William Blake Trask, A. M., Editor. Boston, Mass.: George E. Littlefield, 67 Cornhill. 1901. 8vo, pp. 196.

The contents of this volume were originally published in the New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register. They illustrate the events of the Indian war in Maine, which, owing to the active part in it taken by Lieut. Gov. Wm. Dummer as Commander-in-chief, is often called "Dummer's War." It was soon after the opening of this struggle that Thomas Westbrook, then Captain, was commissioned as Colonel to command a military body, seconded by a fleet, sent by the Province of Massachusetts into the District of Maine. The movements of this expedition are detailed in the documents here published, which consist chiefly of orders and letters from the Lieut. Gov. and reports from the Colonel.

From the sketch preceding the Letters it is evident that Colonel Westbrook had other titles to consideration besides his military achievements, the esteem in which he was held having procured him lasting commemoration in the name of the town of Westbrook, near the city of Portland, Maine.

Mr. Trask's ability as historian and genealogist sufficiently warrants the value of his editorial notes. *

The Descendants of William Towne, who came to America on or about 1630 and settled in Salem, Mass. Compiled by Edwin Eugene Towne, Newtonville, Mass. Published by the Author. 1901. L. 8vo, pp. 372. Ill.

One of the reasons, as stated by the compiler, for the publication of this work, is that all previous Towne genealogies related to only one branch of the family, excepting Edwin Hubbard's volume, which itself omitted to trace many lines of descent. The records of over one hundred and fifty of the families not found in Mr. Hubbard's work are here brought down, in nearly every case, to the present time. These collections of more than three years' labor are, therefore, offered by Mr. Towne as fulfilling his desire for a work embracing all the branches of the stock wherever located, widely scattered, as are the greater number, throughout most of the Northern and Western States.

Preceded by Wm. B. Towne's Memoranda on "the Name in England," the genealogy exhibits the usual features of a carefully compiled and well arranged work of the kind, the biographical notices omitting the unnecessary items that would increase the size but not the usefulness of the volume.

It is pleasant to take note of the author's self-restraint in refusing to use a coat of arms to the display of which the family is not entitled.

Binding, print and illustrations are good, while no less than seven indexes interpose between Mr. Towne and the fate often invoked upon the author of an indexless genealogy. *

Ancestor Hunting. Some Account of a Week spent in Windham County, Vermont, during the month of June, 1901. By Hamline E. Robinson. Maryville, Mo.: Privately printed by the author. 1901. 12mo, pp. 12. Portrait.

An agreeable journey is here agreeably described. Its results, so far as the general reader is concerned, are a few rather curious epitaphs; to the author they may be the stimulus to the compilation of a genealogy. *

Memorial of Mary Francis, born, November 6, 1803, died, December 14, 1884; and William Boardman, born, February 25, 1805, died, December 3, 1887. By William F. J. Boardman. Hartford, Conn. Printed for private distribution. L. 8vo, pp. 54. Ill.

In this fine volume are contained, besides the memoirs of Mr. and Mrs. Boardman, an account of the funeral services, and a description of the Boardman Memorial Chapel, erected to the memory of Mrs. Boardman by her husband. To the descendants of the honored couple to whom this book is dedicated, and also to their fellow townsmen, this tribute of affection and record of memorable virtues will be a gift of both a gratifying and stimulating nature. *

The Records of the Town of Cambridge (formerly Newtowne), Massachusetts. 1630–1703. The Records of the Town Meetings, and of the Selectmen, comprising all of the first Volume of the Records, and being Volume II. of the printed Records of the Town. Printed by Order of the City Council under the Direction of the City Clerk. Cambridge. 1901. L. 8vo, pp. vi + 397. Ill. Map.

Printed by the University Press on heavy paper, solidly and handsomely bound, with gilt lettering on back and cover, this volume shows an exterior corresponding to the value of its contents. These consist of a copy of the Old Cambridge Records, so exact in every detail that the reader gathers from it the same information which one would obtain from the original. Following the preface by the City Clerk is his certification, subscribed and sworn to, that this copy is "true and correct," a testimony that imparts the same weight to this book for use in court as the records themselves.

The proof-reading, as well as the preparation of the copy, and the thorough index were the work of Miss Sarah S. Jacobs, whose successful labor on the "Proprietors' Records" had proved her fitness for the task.

The illustrations are reproductions of portions of the records, and the map is one of Cambridge in 1635, prepared in 1880 by Charles D. Elliot, Esq., from the best known data. *

Andrew Cunningham of Boston and some of his Descendants. A brief Genealogy. By Henry Winchester Cunningham, A. B. Boston. 1901. 8vo, pp. 16.

This reprint from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register gives the partial record of five generations of Cunninghams, and will, we trust, lead to the coöperation of other members of the family in supplying names and dates undiscovered by the author. *

The Macdonough-Hackstaff Ancestry. By Rodney Macdonough. Boston: Press of Samuel Usher, 171 Devonshire St. 1901. pp. xii + 526. Ill. Price $5.00; after Jan. 1, 1902, $7.50. Order from Author, 205 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

The bulk of this work consists of fifty-five biographical sketches of the author's male ancestors. Each sketch, besides embodying all the information obtainable respecting the person who is its subject, gives all that has been ascertained regarding his wife, together with a list of their children. To each article is appended the authorities consulted. The wills, inventories and extracts from records, forming a large proportion of the biographical materials, will be found of value to students of genealogy, especially as all but a very few of the wills and inventories have never before been published.

The article on Commodore Thomas Macdonough consists largely of extracts from an autobiography of both historical and genealogical importance. Of the thirty-six full page half-tone illustrations of this volume, that which reproduces the Stuart portrait of Commodore Macdonough is of preëminent interest.

The families represented in the biographical articles are those of Barker, Bigg, Burrowes, Coit, Cole, Denning, Garr, Griggs, Hallock, Hawxhurst, Hopkins, Laroux, Morrell, Mould, Pratt, Priest, Reddocke, Shaler, Sinclair, Spencer, Stocking, Stow, Swazy, Townsend, Vance and Williams.

Besides the pains evidently bestowed on the contents of this volume, including ancestral charts and complete index, care has been given to its exterior. It is bound in linen, and printed from type on high grade paper, uncut and with wide margins. *

The May-Flower and her Log. July 15, 1620 — May 6, 1621. Chiefly from Original Sources. By Azel Ames, M. D. Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin and Company. The Riverside Press. 1901. 4to, pp. xxii + 375. Ill. Maps.

The author's ennumeration of his principal additions to the extant fund of facts relating to the history of the Pilgrims shows them to be such, in amount and importance, as to excite the expectation of an even more decidedly realistic presentation than ever before was possible, of the story whose interest for the thinker lies largely in its spiritual elements. It would be difficult, indeed, to imagine a more exhaustive account of what may be called the accidental accompaniments of that energization of religious zeal which originated the journeyings of the Pilgrims, than is contained in this volume. The fabricated Log, — not "putative," as that term implies that it has been supposed to be genuine, — the historic entries in which are substantiated by references of due weight, is well introduced by chapters treating first of the "Speedwell," and then of the charter, passengers, officers and crew, lading and provisions of the Mayflower, comprising also a description of the ship herself.

As to the sources of the fresh information supplied by these chapters, among others Dr. Ames rightly names the will of Master Mullens, discovered by Henry F. Waters, as next in significance for Pilgrim history to the Bradford manuscript.

While it is true that the vantage-ground furnished to an author by the new acquisitions of which he avails himself enables him to correct the errors of his predecessors, and justifies him in doing so, it would be in better taste to simply rectify their mistakes, without comment, than to describe them as "without excuse, or as over-anxious to distinguish themselves by finding 'turning-points of history.'"

The "Log" is followed by the verbatim text of the principal letters and documents used in compiling the volume. A bibliography concludes the book, which is thoroughly indexed, and typographically is perfect. *

Supplement to the Pioneers of Massachusetts. [By Rev. Charles Henry Pope. Boston. 1901.] 4to, pp. 16.

This supplement contains a list of additions and corrections, an index of places outside of Massachusetts, and a list of "Gentle Pioneers." It is printed on thin linen paper for insertion at the back of the volume.

A Record of the Services of the Commissioned Officers and Enlisted Men of Kittery and Eliot, Maine, Who served their Country on land and sea in the American Revolution, from 1775 to 1783. [By Lieut. Oliver P. Remick. Boston. 1901.] 8vo, pp. 223. Price $2.00, postpaid. For sale by Lieut. Oliver P. Remick, Kittery Depot, Me.

This volume brings together into two alphabetical lists the military and naval services of more than five hundred Kittery men, out of a total population of about three thousand, who ventured their lives during the American Revolution for the freedom of their country. One of these lists deals with the commissioned officers, the other with the privates and non-commissioned officers. To the military or naval record of each patriot, the compiler has added a brief biographical sketch, replete with genealogical data. The operations of the various vessels which were manned wholly or in part by Kittery men, and movements of the various military companies likewise constituted, are related in an extended preface, while an appendix contains copies of several commissions, and of rolls of the "Ranger" and the "Raleigh."

NOTES.

BREWSTER. The maiden name of Elizabeth, wife of Joseph[4] Brewster of Duxbury, has hitherto been unknown. She was the daughter of Benjamin[3] and Elizabeth (Hawkins) Turner of Scituate, and was herself a descendant of Elder Brewster through her grandmother, Mary (Brewster) Turner. The wills of both Benjamin Turner and his wife, Elizabeth, (Plymouth Co. Probate Rec., vols. 7, p. 114, and 9, p. 420), name their daughter Elizabeth Brewster.

JOHNSON DATA. The will of George Johnson [ante p. 50], the wealthy Quaker, of Maryland, whose death occurred in 1681, was discovered by William Francis Cregar, Esq., Registrar and Historian of the Maryland Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, about 1890. Mr. Cregar first called the attention of Mr. John Ward Dean, the Librarian of the New England Historic Genealogical Society to its importance, and then kindly forwarded to Hon. Edward F. Johnson, of Woburn, a descendant of Capt. Edward, a full copy of the will, which is a lengthy document. Mr. Johnson then announced this discovery, with due credit to Mr. Cregar, in the Woburn local newspaper, of January 31, 1890. The matter was published again in the "Winchester Press," on April 26, 1901, with other recent material relating to Capt. Edward Johnson's ancestry and the members of his immediate family. A. G. L.

The knowledge of the discovery of this will, as far as the general public was concerned, seems to have been as successfully buried in the files of a local newspaper as was the original will in the probate registry in Maryland.

LITCHFIELD GENEALOGY. Mr. Wilford J. Litchfield of Southbridge, Mass., has completed the first number of his genealogy of the American Litchfield families. This number, containing 104 pages, records the first three generations of the family descended from Lawrence Litchfield, and may be had from the compiler at $1.50 per copy.

QUERIES.

A charge of one cent per word is made for the insertion of queries, and a year's subscription to THE ADVERTISER will be given for the first correct answer to each query. Queries which could easily be answered by using well known genealogical books will not be accepted.

THE PRESERVATION OF THE VITAL RECORDS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

The ultimate preservation of the vital records of the Commonwealth, which his ancestors helped to establish, is a matter of deep concern to the American genealogical student. It is generally conceded that the best method for handing down to future generations such records as have survived fire, wear and the indifference of custodians, is to multiply copies by printing them on the most durable paper obtainable. The proposition of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society to publish at one cent per printed page per copy, "if encouragement warrants," by a fund set apart for this purpose, "the Vital Records (births, marriages and deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts, from their beginning to the year 1845, whose Records are not already printed, or in process or contemplation of printing," is one which should receive prompt encouragement from all interested in this undertaking.

The encouragement should be substantial as well as prompt. It is well known that the people who live in any given town are not the only ones interested in its records. Since the fall of New France opened the gates of the great west to the English, a continual stream of emigration has poured westward over the border of Massachusetts, until there is scarcely a city or town in the vast stretch of territory which reaches across to the Pacific, where some representative of her families may not be found. Thousands of the descendants of these pioneers have shown a lively interest in their ancestry during the past decade. They have deluged town clerks and historical societies with letters of inquiry, employed professional genealogists, personally visited the homes of their forefathers, interviewed aged relatives, ransacked record offices and libraries, photographed old homesteads, searched old graveyards and family Bibles, and returned home with the evidences needed to join one or more of the patriotic hereditary societies. An immense amount of money has been spent in this manner, a large part of which could have been saved had these records been in print. It is incumbent upon these people to do their share of encouraging the present enterprise by subscribing either for the whole set of the proposed publications, or for such volumes as contain the records of their ancestors.

Now is the time to do this work. Frequent handling of the original records is causing them to crumble, and the ink in some cases is fading. The present wave of "patriotic hereditary" enthusiasm may soon subside. The peaceful invasion of Massachusetts, by sea from Europe into her cities, and by land from Canada into her towns, is fast laying the foundation for a population which will not be interested in the preservation of her early memorials. These records may never be printed if the present generation fails to accomplish it.

During the last four years, THE GENEALOGICAL ADVERTISER and The Mayflower Descendant have begun the publication of the records of twenty-one towns in the Old Colony (Plymouth, Bristol and Barnstable counties), and Mr. Franklin P. Rice has been working in the central part of Worcester county. Mr. Rice's work has been along the lines which the Genealogical Society proposes to follow — an alphabetical arrangement, the marriages duplicated, with one volume to a town. THE ADVERTISER and The Mayflower Descendant have been printing literal transcripts without changes or transpositions. It is worth noting in this connection that both magazines have become self-supporting — an achievement not common with periodicals of this class. The work which these magazines and Mr. Rice have begun will be continued, while the Society confines its enterprise to those towns "not already printed, or in process or contemplation of printing," beginning with those which do not even have printed histories. Copying is already in progress on the records of Walpole, Hull, Montgomery and Alford. Circulars giving information may be had by addressing the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, 18 Somerset St., Boston, Mass.

ABSTRACT FROM MIDDLESEX CO. COURT FILES.

"James Louett & Hanna Teyler were married the 17th day of ffebruarie 1668 before Me Ralph wheelocke." Other papers in the case show that James Lovett lived at Mendon, and that Hannah, his wife, was daughter of Job Tyler. The latter lived at Roxbury, Mendon, Rowley and Andover. Ralph Wheelock was magistrate at Medfield, and was commissioned to perform marriages within the bounds of Medfield and Mendon.

BOOK NOTES.

Records of the Court of Assistants of the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, 1630–1692. Printed under the Supervision of John Noble, Clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court. Vol. I. Published by the County of Suffolk. [Rockwell and Churchill Press, Boston.] 1901. 8vo, pp. xiii + 588.

In accordance with the orders of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Boston, passed in 1890 and 1896, authorizing the publication of "all the Records of Courts held by the Governor and Assistants for the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay from 1630 to 1692," this volume now appears. Although it is the record of the last twenty years of the Court of Assistants, viz., from 1673 to 1692, it is called Volume I, since the manuscript from which it is copied is the only book of the Court's records still preserved in its integrity. The materials relating to earlier periods are derived from various originals and will be incorporated in Volume II. Although the manuscript of the present volume is in almost perfect condition, its hand-writing, as shown by specimens illustrating this work, renders transcription an extremely difficult task. The printed pages have been made, however, a remarkably exact reproduction of the original. Mr. Noble mentions his great obligations to Mr. William P. Upham for the ability and energy he has displayed as assistant in securing this happy result.

In an instructive preface is given an account of the formation and procedure of the Court of Assistants, from which may be inferred the importance of its records as exhibiting a picture of the times, from whose various shades the humorous is not altogether absent.

An index of 191 pages demonstrates by its minuteness the abundance of noticeable matters of which the contents consist.

The print is clear and presents all the peculiarities of the original with curious precision. With its good paper and binding, added to the merits already noticed, this volume, on its own account as well as its significance as the first of a notable series, will rank with the Massachusetts Bay and Plymouth Colony Records and the similar publications of other States. *

Proceedings of the John Bean (1660) Association, at its Annual Reunion at Boston, September 5, 1900. 8vo, pp. 153–195.

Following an account of the "Fifth Reunion of the Descendants of John Bean, of Exeter (1660)," we have here a half-dozen pages of "Biographical Notices," a "Register," and a continuation of the "Genealogy of John Bean" by Hon. Josiah H. Drummond. The pamphlet is admirably printed. *

The Descendants of Adam Mott, of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y. A Genealogical Study. By Edw. Doubleday Harris, 280 Broadway, New York City. 8vo, pp. 8.

This sketch of the earlier generations of the Mott Family is published for free distribution, by way of soliciting contributions to the materials which the author is collecting for a history of the descendants of Adam Mott. *

The Litchfield Family in America. [By Wilford J. Litchfield.] Part I. No. 1. October, 1901. 8vo, pp. 104. Price, $1.50. Apply to Author, 22 Oakes Ave., Southbridge, Mass.

This genealogy is arranged according to the method of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society. It will be published in numbers, not periodically, but as will be found feasible. Part One, to consist of several numbers, relates to Lawrence Litchfield, of Mass., and his posterity. Other parts will be devoted to the remaining branches of the family.

The part here begun is based, says the compiler, on Morse's "Genealogy of the Descendants of Lawrence Litchfield;" but the Rev. Mr. Morse's work is not to be compared with the present one, since Mr. Litchfield has most laboriously and discerningly investigated all the sources of knowledge relating to his subject.

Points of particular importance in this Number are the lists of early settlers, and the identification of Judith Peakes and of Experience, wife of Henry Luce. The copious notes are also a noticeable feature. The town of Scituate will be indebted to this genealogy for noteworthy materials of history, as the records of some of its prominent families will occupy many of the pages.

Paper and print are good, and the quality of the family history, as thus far displayed, warrants the expectation of a completed work of great excellence. *

The Descendants of James and William Adams of Londonderry, now Derry, N. H. Also a Brief Account of the Families of Robert Cochran and Joseph Morrison of Londonderry, and of Dea. Thomas Cochran of New Boston, N. H. Compiled by Andrew N. Adams, of Fair Haven, Vt. Published by the Author for the use of the families whose records herein appear. Rutland: The Tuttle Co., Printers. 1894. 8vo, pp. 87. Ill. Map. Price, $1.50. To be obtained from the Author.

This work by the "Genealogist of the Adams Families of New England," although deprived of the additions which the author regrets not having obtained from those aged persons who alone could supply them, is nevertheless one whose usefulness will be recognized by all belonging to any of the numerous families of the name of Adams. Descendants of James Adams are given as far as the seventh generation; of the posterity of William, possibly a brother of James, records as far as the sixth generation have been collected by the compiler. The book furnishes an interesting chapter of the history of the Scotch-Irish in America. *

A Finding List of Genealogies and Local History in the Syracuse Public Library, Syracuse, N. Y. Lyman Brothers, Printers, Syracuse, N. Y. [1901.] 8vo, pp. 131.

This list comprises all works of the kind indicated in the title which have been received at the Syracuse Public Library up to June, 1901. As a guide to those using the genealogical portion of the Library, it is complete. The toughness of the paper the list is printed on is no inconsiderable quality of its usefulness. *

Vital Record of Rhode Island. 1636–1850. Vol. XII. Revolutionary Rolls and Newspapers. By James N. Arnold. Published under the Auspices of the General Assembly. Providence, R. I.: Narragansett Historical Publishing Society. 1901. 4to, pp. cv + 616. Price $7.50.

The present volume of Mr. Arnold's immense work offers the following table of contents: "The Newport Mercury: Marriages, Deaths. The Newport Herald: Marriages, Deaths. Index to Cowell's 'Spirit of '76.' Rhode Island Officers of the Revolution: Killed, Wounded or Pensioned. Rhode Island Pensioners, Census of 1820, of 1835, and of 1840. The Providence Journal: Deaths from Jan. 3, 1820, to Dec. 31, 1829, A to R."

The index to Judge Cowell's work is more than the term implies, since not only is the name of each soldier given in its alphabetical order, but also the clause recording the nature of his service, with a number indicating the page of Cowell's book where the name occurs.

The rarity with the consequent expensiveness of the works from which were compiled the military rolls in this volume is a fact which increases the value of a work which, at a comparatively small cost, affords its possessor the equivalent of a great outlay.

In the statistics copied from newspapers, the entire original entry is transcribed, and not merely the dates; the compiler, in his eagerness to give all, regretting there is not more to give.

As Mr. Arnold's completed work will have put in print the record of every birth, marriage and death in Rhode Island from the earliest period to date, one readily and gratefully recognizes the energy and perseverance exemplified in the portion of the task thus far accomplished, and confidently awaits its conclusion. In the compliments from all quarters which the work has received, the "pluck," and the "vim" of its author have been justly praised. *

Index to American Genealogies; and to Genealogical Material contained in all Works such as Town Histories, County Histories, Local Histories, Historical Society Publications, Biographies, Historical Periodicals, and Kindred Works, Alphabetically Arranged, enabling the Reader to ascertain whether the Genealogy of any Family, or any part of it, is printed, either by itself or embodied in other Works. Fifth edition, revised, improved and enlarged, containing nearly 50,000 References. Albany, N. Y. Joel Munsell's Sons, Publishers. 1900. Sm. 4to, pp. 352.

The American Genealogist, being a Catalogue of Family Histories. A Bibliography of American Genealogy, or, A List of the Title Pages of Books and Pamphlets on Family History, Published in America, from 1771 to date. Fifth edition. Prepared by the Publishers. Albany, N. Y.: Joel Munsell's Sons, Publishers. 1900. Sm. 4to, pp. 406.

Lists of Titles of Genealogical Articles in American Periodicals and Kindred Works. Giving the Name, Residence, and Earliest Date of the First Settler of each Family, and adding deficiencies in brackets. Designed as a Companion Volume to our "American Genealogist." Albany, N. Y.: Joel Munsell's Sons, Publishers. 1899. Sm. 4to, pp. 165.

With the assistance of these three volumes, the mass of genealogical information contained in American publications of various kinds is rendered accessible to the investigator. By means of the "Genealogical Index" one learns, without resort to libraries of genealogy, the brief titles of all works, chiefly town histories, that supply any knowledge of consequence respecting any family. Its references generally indicate such works as include, at least, the record of three or four generations. Its lists of genealogies make of it an index to the "American Genealogist," in which is found a complete description of each genealogy, to which merely a line is given in the other work. The "Genealogist" prints the title-page in full, the number of pages, and, in brackets, such additions as are required to properly explain the scope of the book, which in many cases is not inferable from the title. Usually also the American founder of the family, with the place and date of his settlement, is named. A few works on foreign families are catalogued, but they are such as contain some American genealogy, however slight.

Still further to widen the field of research, the above works are supplemented by the "List of Titles in Genealogical Periodicals," which titles, merely noted in the "Index," are here copied in full, with dates, etc.

With such aids the task of discovering the repositories of American genealogical knowledge is already accomplished for the investigator, as those who use these three books will gratefully acknowledge. *

Raymond, New Hampshire, Fifty years ago. An Address at the "Old Home Week Celebration," Raymond, N. H., August 20, 1901. By David H. Brown, of West Medford, Mass. Chicago: The Lakeside Press, 1901. 8vo, pp. 16.

To anyone born in any part of New England whose memory covers a half-century, these informal pages of recollections will seem indeed in great measure as his own. *

NOTE.

COTTON. The death of Rev. Rowland Cotton of Sandwich (ante, p. 13) is given in the town's present copy of the early records of Sandwich as occurring "March 18 — 1700." This date is not correct. Mr. Frank E. Cotton of Woburn, historian of the Cotton families of New England, writes that the correct date is March 18, 1721–2, and that contemporary proof of this date may be found in Sewall's Diary, the News Letter and the diary of Rev. Rowland Cotton's brother, Josiah. A careful study of the matter points to the conclusion that probably the last figures of the year were torn off or worn away in the original records of the town, and that the copyist in writing "— 1700," intended to convey the meaning that the event took place sometime in the century beginning 1700. On page 14 are found similar instances. Unfortunately the original records of these early Sandwich events have disappeared since the town's copy was made, and there is now no way of rectifying the errors or settling the discrepancies of the copy except by outside evidence.

QUERIES.

A charge of one cent per word is made for the insertion of queries, and a year's subscription to THE ADVERTISER will be given for the first correct answer to each query. Queries which could easily be answered by using well known genealogical books will not be accepted.
